Royal Navy, which requires tional defence, which wise measure, in conjunction with the Militia force of 80,000 men now being organised, will effectually dispel all fears of foreign invasion. Mr. Stafford, Secretary of the Admiralty board, has produced a most favourable impression in Parliament by his able and candid explanation of the resources and requirements of the above branch of the public service.

Sub Inspector Clune, at his request, is transferred from Outerard to Marble Hill.

The correspondence we copy elsewhere of Mr Davis, late of Waterford, with Mr John Bright, a parliamentary leader of the Manchester school of free traders, will demonstrate to the people of this country the opinion entertained of Ireland and Irish interests, by that class of persons.

John Shea, a laborer, fell from a high gang tree at the new dock works upon a heap of stones beneath on Thursday, and was so badly injured that he had to be conveyed to Barrington's hospital, where he at once received medical aid, and is now convalescent.

Catherine Mangan, while spreading clothes to dry out of a window in Michael-street, on Thursday, fell out upon a pig-sty, sustaining dislocation of the collar bone and severe injury of the spine. She is under treatment in Barrington's hospital.

fell out of a turf boat at Coonagh five weeks since, was on Thursday picked up below Barrington's-quay, by some Strand fishermen.

It is calculated that the extent of potatoes planted this season in Connaught exceeds anything ever known in the West of Ireland.

Industrious and enterprising Scotch farmers are extending their influence in the south and west of Ireland. Three brothers of the name Matthews have recently taken extensive farms—two in the vicinity of Dimerick, Ballyanrahan and Knocklisheen, the third near Miltown Malbay, which they are respectively tilling and stocking. The three farms comprise near 800 acres. Ballyanrahan is held under Mr. M'Murray, who purchased it under the Encumbered Estates Court, and the other two are rented by these respectable young men from Col. Wyndham.
