

native country. This was are now before the element from party to implicitly believe rendering good and accepting this principle will never regret diligent representative urday last, without ough of Harwich, in liberal, retires from to make room for a Bart. brother of the s zealous friend and idate for Meath, on County, retires at ar, Esq. is the con- ounty, in opposition bout to purchase the rd, the property of n the Chronicle) in ngst the electors of d Mr Christmas, of n the conservative of Listowel district eart and soul, might e representation of work and vote for integrity.

st have invited Mr as a representative.

Monaghan Tenant Carriackmacross, Dr. for the county.

s unanimously chosen Monaghan, and Mr.

he Lord Bishop of M.P. have subscrib- nial.

Witness—Yes, we were much fatigued, and wet; Mr Hildebrand was sober, and if he were not able to take care of himself we would not have left him by himself; he rolled the sail about him; we fastened the boat, and I promised to be down with him at 5 o'clock the following morning to assist him in getting up the boat. Unfortunately I slept beyond the time; but at half past eight, when Doctor Spain awoke me I went down and saw the boat, but could not discover the body. Deceased was a man of temperate habits.

Mr John F Lucas deposed that he asked deceased was he not afraid of catching cold, but he replied—“There's not the least danger, I'm used to it.”

Mr Joyner swore he was acquainted with Mr Hildebrand since he came to Limerick; went down the river on Sunday as far as Bunratty; witness was in a hurry home, as he wanted to sleep in the Bank that night; got out near Tervee, and came home by the bank. Was perfectly sober, and believes the others were so too.

The jury returned the following verdict—“We are of opinion that Ceverus Hildebrand came by his death from apoplexy or suffocation, superinduced by over exertion in an open boat; and we are of opinion that the conduct of the party who accompanied deceased, with the exception of Mr Joyner, was both unfeeling and uncharitable in walking off and leaving deceased in such a place and at such time of night.”

Mr Hildebrand was remarkably well conducted, and his melancholy death is universally regretted.

There is to be a further inquiry into the particulars connected with the death of Mr Hildebrand, on Friday.

Yesterday Doctor Murphy, Coroner, held an Inquest on James Quinlan, who was killed by a house falling on him at Galbally, in this county.

Nine cargoes of sugar were imported to Dublin in the last week.

There will be no County petty sessions to-morrow, it being the anniversary of the Queen's birth-day.

At the Nenagh petty sessions on Monday, Mr. Garvey apologised to the Bench for the hasty expressions he made use of that day fortnight. The expression of sorrow has been accepted by his brother Magistrates. Mr. Garvey received a kind admonition from the Chancellor, and Mr. Garvey has acknowledged that he acted very hastily, imprudently, and injudiciously.

Richard Bourke, Esq. of the was examined before Lord Mo the consolidated annuities, and evidence already given will, is ted, realise the hopes of the N: celment of the iniquitous fam

Mr E Goggin presided at th Board of Guardians this day. the workhouses, 5,123; died 1

No outlay is to be incurred t Committee in alterations at that excellent institution bei the required purposes.

At a meeting of the guardian union, Edward Curling, Esq. Hayes, proposed the formatio memorial the Lords of the duties on exciseable articles u its auxiliaries. Mr. D. Brent clared contractor for conveyi workhouse to Canada, at £4 7: to be paid in three instalments £3 12s 6d per head in ready gave notice to reduce the sal officers 40 per cent. Mr. W increase the poundage of t to 6d. The board directed the Lords of the Treasury for loa gration. The ratebooks were t adjourned to Saturday. Numbe admitted, 171; born, 3; discha visions consumed during week average number on outdoor rel 6d; amount lodged with treas £962 6s 3d; balance against g

There was a great riot in th Sunday last, occasioned by one of the paupers a bottle of t smuggled in through an app general attack was made upon military and police were call disturbance.

A poor man named Richard on the bog of Cully, near Nen left the Nenagh workhouse, in After hearing evidence the Cor of starvation.