

stallion Birdcatcher; these Irish-bred horse; and the third one, is by Mr. Watts' old horse, Birdcatcher.

The second horse, Barbarian, was the list.

LIN, MAY 28.

of the late Robt Hedges Eyre, this day sold by the commissary sums, and the chief buyers were, Bianconi, Murray, Burke, Payne, and M'Nevin.

accompanied by Mr Wynne, visited the Grangeegorman yesterday. His Excellency was the various departments of the pressed himself highly satisfied with the industry of the inmates a pocket handkerchief prepared with the Eglinton arms, was shown to his Excellency. His Excellency's sisters, young women under sentence for ten years, for felony of stealing from a warehouse.

It is a combination between the various departments of the Christmas, to monopolise the market.

Mr. Master Brooke has decided to baptise a Protestant, is to be a Catholic, her late father being of the mother a Protestant, but the mother's aunt, Mrs. Watts, a Pro-

Root sugar have lately been at most satisfactory prices, higher than marks of similar qualities bring at present in the various preparations are in course in the county of Waterford to meet the expected demand for which the soil of Ireland is adapted.

Mr. Vincent, 81st, were yesterday fined £1 for assault on the police.

EXCHEQUER.

Leir v. John Hill.

was obtained, in October last, by the County of Cork, under the interdict of an issue as to whether the lands, at the Castle of Mitchells, were the property of the owner.

Executions, against the goods of the deceased, were delivered to the Sheriff, as required to seize certain lands and gardens, consisting of plants, garden furniture, &c.

Mr Daly, bell founder, is about to take down the bell, recently erected by him at the Franciscan Chapel, and to send it to Cork for the Exhibition.

The interior of the Exhibition Buildings at Cork, notwithstanding that goods are pouring in every hour, is, through the exertions of the executive committee, commencing to assume an order and regularity which leave no doubt that all will be satisfactory by the 'opening day.' The magnificent southern hall has been entirely devoted to the fine arts. At the southern extremity proceeds the Telford's grand organ; and through the hall are to be met Hogan's 'Drunken Fawn' and his exquisite figure of Erin, sent in by Lord Cloncurry. The northern hall, which is to be occupied by the finer fabrics, is surrounded with handsome glass cases in which the samples are to be exhibited. The exhibition of cambrics and laces will exceed the most sanguine expectations. Some beautiful articles of Limerick lace are specially manufactured for Messrs Arnott & Co., and in the manufacture of which the Limerick lace workers have surpassed their most successful efforts. Mr Edward Jones, of St Andrew-st. Dublin, will have one of his looms at work, exhibiting the different stages in the manufacture of this elegant fabric. Messrs. Fry, Atkinson, and the other tabinet manufacturers of Dublin, will also have their looms at work. The banquet hall is fast arriving at completion. It is estimated to accommodate 600 persons without inconvenience. One portion of the hall will be 90 feet by 58, while another part will be 100 feet by 30.

The Duke of Devonshire has sent for exhibition at Cork the ancient episcopal crozier of Lismore.

The excursion train will leave this at six on Monday morning for Dublin, and return in the evening.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin is invited by the London deputation to the grand fete on Monday next, on the opening of Lord Headley's mines in Kerry. The deputation left Limerick yesterday, with a banner flying, and emblazoned motto, "Royal Hibernian Mining Company."

Mr Vize, from Thurles, is appointed manager of the National Bank at New Ross; and Mr Commins from Roscrea to that of Thurles.

At Kinavara petty sessions the dispute between Mr Blood Smyth and Mr Burton Bindon, relative to the right of seaweed, is adjourned for witnesses.

The winner of the Great Derby at Epsom, Daniel O'Rourke, a chestnut colt, is out of Forget Me Not, by Irish Birdcatcher. He was foaled the 9th January, 1849. He was handled by Butler, a Curragh jock. Barbarian, who ran second, was also by an Irish sire.

Thomas Costelloe, Esq. held an inquest on Thursday in a house at Boherbuoy, on the body of a female named Mary O'Brien, who died the night previous from debility, caused by want of nourishment. It was proved that she refused to avail of workhouse relief, and the jury returned a verdict exonerating the relieving officer.

near the fire by the effects of this house narrowly escaped being destroyed. Constable Eaton, sub-M'Adam's, and Morphy, and at a risk of their lives. The timely suppression of the fire was due to the efforts of the firemen, who were enabled to reach the fire in time. This is the first fire in the last six months, that has been so successful in having the fire extinguished.

Saturday night an explosion took place in the house of George Smith, in the city of plate, including the police of Cloughjordan. The name of Curtis, who was found.

Mary Anne Murray, set fire to Clonmel as a result of her drunkenness would explode it at the Mayor; but struck the Mayor's face, but struck the Mayor, spreading all over his clothes.

Both men charged with the murder of Leane, at Castlesland, were found guilty. Sheehy, the prisoner, was sentenced to be hanged, not far from the place where Moore in the neighbourhood of the murdered man had been removed.

The salvage sale by the Government of wheat and Indian corn, the concerns of Mr J. Moore in the neighbourhood of the murdered man had been removed.

The salvage sale by the Government of wheat and Indian corn, the concerns of Mr J. Moore in the neighbourhood of the murdered man had been removed.

The salvage sale by the Government of wheat and Indian corn, the concerns of Mr J. Moore in the neighbourhood of the murdered man had been removed.

The salvage sale by the Government of wheat and Indian corn, the concerns of Mr J. Moore in the neighbourhood of the murdered man had been removed.

The salvage sale by the Government of wheat and Indian corn, the concerns of Mr J. Moore in the neighbourhood of the murdered man had been removed.

The salvage sale by the Government of wheat and Indian corn, the concerns of Mr J. Moore in the neighbourhood of the murdered man had been removed.

The salvage sale by the Government of wheat and Indian corn, the concerns of Mr J. Moore in the neighbourhood of the murdered man had been removed.

The salvage sale by the Government of wheat and Indian corn, the concerns of Mr J. Moore in the neighbourhood of the murdered man had been removed.