DEATHS.

In Henry-street, on Saturday afternoon, at an advanced age,
Jane, relict of the late Charles FitzGerald, Esq. of Rockfield, in this county. The best of parents, the kindest of friends.
For her the retrospect of a long life had no regrets—the prospect of an eternity no terrors. She died as she lived, an humble Christian. Her remains were this day interred in the family vault at Adare.
In Patrick-street, Miss Mary Dwyer, Confectioner.
On Friday morning, at his house in Rennie, after a long illness, borne with fortitude and resignation, Thomas Whitestone, Esq. of Clondigad. He was a fond father and an affectionate friend, and is deeply regretted by his family and all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. He for many years held the office of Coroner for the county Clare.
At Doneraile, the infant son of the Hon. Mr. St. Leger.
At the Presentation Convent, Killarney, Sister Mary de Pazzi, daughter of the late J. Hogan, Esq. solicitor, of Dublin.
