

three or four cases proved fatal. would see them eagerly spirit of emulation at go there on a Sunday those members of a society one of the rules of which at the altar monthly, listen- and instructive lecture.

was given up and closed poor destitute creatures at night, and to whom it advantage?

and that keeping that place to every sort of vagabond- robbing and plundering in ere sure of a shelter there said he was of that opinion was Mayor he had the the poor creatures sleep on d it opened again.

Mr M'Inerney, master of r refused a lodging to any truth might as well be told much diplomacy for a poor khouse as into the palace.

deed, I fear there is a great in there.

ent of the Young Men's ance, stated that he believed provided for those unforobliged to remain in the estant Dean of Limerick was upper part of the building Trades' Literary Institute, now Bishop Higgin, has taken was over in the room a few a report, expressing himself r in which it was carried on.

er interfered in the matter of the building was wanting ce of a society, the members nt persuasion from the Dean.

not a single Protestant con-if he was Mr Moore he would all persuasions. He was sure tion to the worthy Dean, for he was a most tolerant nism should be tolerated by at represent the feelings of Limerick.

would be better to avoid the ke sectarianism to have the ggested by Alderman Watson. it was agreed to give up the ing on these terms to the n's society, they undertaking

he proposed alteration, and fere with the front of the

that he would on the next adoption of a petition to Par-by ballot for the election of n Ireland (hear.)

three or four cases proved fatal.

Two of the superintendent medical inspectors of the general Board of Health have been directed to watch the progress and threatenings of cholera—Dr Sutherland and Dr Grainger, who are gone to Ham- burgh and Magdeburgh.

Charles Noble Farebrother, mathematical instru- ment maker, lost his life by explosion of a boiler, on Friday, at Paradise-street, Lambeth-walk.

A young lady, named Hyne, daughter of a clergy- man residing at Plymouth, committed suicide on Thursday, by hanging herself from an oak tree growing on a cliff over the West Mill Lake. Grief for the death of a sister is supposed to have been the cause.

The Bank of England bullion in the bank vaults this week was £21,913,754.

Such is the anxiety for investments—or, rather, the morbid desire for speculation, in a market glutted with capital, that the Turkish Loan of two millions, is al- ready at a premium of 5½ per cent!

The principals, three in number, of the party in the gigantic robbery of 30,000*l* in gold dust at Mel- bourne, have been brought to justice and found guilty and sentenced to be transported for life. There were five other prisoners to be tried for being concerned in the act of plunder. The amount of gold found on the prisoners did not exceed £7,000; consequently there is £20,000 to be recovered of the stolen treasure.

The Leamington Advertiser, for the information of visitors, announces "Vespers service" in the Roman Catholic chapel there at 8 in the morning!

Mrs Mary Cole, of Wells-st. Oxford-st. was killed on Thursday by Ned Shehan, one of her lodgers, whom she had suspected of robbery.

Joseph Sheldrake, chief clerk in the Ipswich post office, is committed for extensive frauds therein.

Commander Cator, who commanded the Intrepid, screw steamer, on the late Arctic expedition, and has recently been serving as Inspecting Commander of the Coast Guard at Aberdeen, has been appointed Con- servator of the River Humber.

The London Jews are holding meetings and sub- scribing to a fund for the restoration of Palestine to the children of Israel!

Miss Emma Fitzpatrick, of Drury-lane, has landed at New York, where she makes her debut as Letitia Hardy in the Belle's Stratagem. Sir William Don was arrested at Memphis, charged with fraudulently obtaining a passage for his troupe in a Mississippi steamer. Miss Julia Bennett's benefit at Detroit theatre was a bumper. Madame Alboni revisits New York to give concerts.

On Saturday Mr G Brent held an inquest at the Marylebone workhouse, upon Edward Fitzgerald, the child of Irish parents. Honora Fitzgerald, mother, stated that her husband, who was in the Irish con- stabulary, quartered in Limerick, had to leave his native land for America, in consequence of an active part he took in quelling a faction fight. Her friends enabled her to leave home for England, where she expected to earn as much as would enable her to follow her husband. During the whole journey her infant was very ill, and upon reaching London she wandered about the streets without shelter until a woman gave her one, where the child died from ex- haustion. Verdict—'Natural death.'

The Rt. Rev. Dr. Murphy from Fermoy to express his attend the Tenant League b man Crawford. Dr, Murp desory the germ of unhallow that has so long and fatal thing fair and promising itself anew at the late Carlo comes, in my mind, the bound loves Ireland, or feels for t pressed and broken-hearted and at once; for without your boasted Irish party wi baseless as the 'fabrio of a of reality, and consequently good. In my humble judgm ciple, and it is simply this, advocacy of Irish interests take no step in their individ without having first consult minority shall yield and sea action recommended by the observance of some s labours and sacrifices fo effective Irish parliament prove vain and bootless. present prostrate condition or Liberal Catholics occur as all past analogies sorely folk, no matter how varyin religious or political creed emoluments of office, and of popular rights, will eve of pursuit?"

Mr Fagan, MP. Cork, a will not attend the Tenan phy, MP. arrived yester Tenant League.

Sir Robert Bateson, Ba for slander against Mr Sha letter to the Northern Wh other proprietors as of the derogatory to personal cha

The petition against Mr will be conducted with The Bishop, (Dr Brown,) Mayor of Sligo will be exa of the House of Commons

Mr. M'Cann, MP, for I

The Limerick Harbour mitted a case for the opin to the claim of 15 persons qualified voters, for the members, which takes pla

Captain Huish, Genera North Western Railway, in Dublin to accelerate Holyhead, so that a pa morning will be able t Limerick, or Galway, the

We this day received t posed to be erected in the the Great Industrial Exh Merrion-square by 800 f tiful design.