

ment, but conceived Mr. Barclay chastised the children with undue severity, a repetition of which, they said, may lead to his removal.

the master, Mr M'Inerney.

Weekly Report—Number of paupers in the work-houses on Saturday last, 4,506; admitted during week, 154; discharged, 203; died, 2; average weekly cost of each pauper, 1s 1½d.

ACCIDENTS FROM THE STORM—Michael Vaughan, a glazier from the Irish town was found by the police in William-street the night of the storm, supposed to be drunk, but on looking at his head it was found nearly split in two by a slate from some neighbouring house. On removal to hospital Dr. Gore was sent for and found a dreadful fracture of the head, the left side of the forehead all but cut off and the brain protruding, several portions of the skull driven into the brain; these were removed by Drs. Gore and Kane, after which the poor man became conscious for a time and told his name, but he died in a eleven hours afterwards. He has left a wife and large family. Thomas Dooneen, a farmer from Through, whilst assisting to lift some corn bags at a store in the Irishtown, was struck on the head by the handle of the winch and thrown from the platform. a height of ten feet. He received a severe concussion of his brain, and remained several hours pulseless and unconscious. Dr. Gore had him at once removed to Barrington's hospital where under careful management he is progressing favourably.

Tuesday night at Coonagh, a number of hay stacks belonging to Mr Gaunson, ship chandler, were set fire to and consumed, whether by accident or design is uncertain.

In Clare village, Mary Pilkington, was killed on Sunday night by the chimney and part of the roof of the house in which she slept, falling in on her.

Monday morning last, as the mail car, between Templemore and Nenagh, was on its way to the latter place, it came in contact with a fallen tree which lay across the road, and was upset by the collision and turned over on the unfortunate driver, and so remained until life was extinct. His name was Thomas Kennedy, and he has left a wife and family to deplore him.

At Mullingar two chimneys were blown down thro' the roof of the workhouse by the great storm on Christmas morning, and six women severely wounded; one died, two more not expected to recover.

In Kilkenny the chief mischief was done at the newly built Roman Catholic Chapel of Freshford. Unfortunately some of the windows remained without glass, and were imperfectly secured by boards. The wind, thus obtaining an entrance, completely blew up four fifths of the roof on the north side, not leaving a vestige of slate or lath.

On Christmas night the Auxiliary workhouse on the Old Quay, Clonmel, was discovered on fire; immediate assistance having been procured the fire was subdued before any injury was done further than the burning of a few straw beds. The fire originated by some matches which had been ignited by the children having fallen amongst the bedding,

The Canadian Executive has given notice that a tract of twenty four millions of acres, lying mainly to pay 13s for his, mutton is 7d and been a load; coals, £5 a per hire horse load. circulation of money venience we feel is there here have gone to the securely say, spoiled thousands of those but make their way themselves and us. domestic servants, a keep will astonish you maid, £16; £20 for whilst cooks demand were so fortunate as sent out by the Cal just left, having obtained A man cook gets £7 ing in this neighbour diggins, could not, his own expenses."

TO THE EDITOR

SIR—You will please refer to Wilson's letter, which I remain, your obedient servant,

To the Editor

DEAR SIR—I beg to refer you in reference to Mr

I never received—or other paper relating to the matter for convening the meeting in relation to the determination I had of it in the Dublin Mail into the public notice; and the only objection made from Mr Wilson was that in which I alluded to, what he alluded to, matters, thro' which I intended to say, that it never occurred to me who is so extremely ignorant, and who I am in the footsteps of

I have only now to state that my signature as Sheriff, without mentioning that in the only copy of the document, I refused to sign, and that the sheriff refused his signature to the document, and that whatever name he may use to assure you, is the facts.

I am, dear

IRISH IN THE I complained of Ireland men are the last w Abbe MacGeoghe