Thomas Lloyd, Esq., and his lovely and accomplished bride, arrived in Limerick from England, en route to Prospect house, the residence of his much respected father, Eyre Lloyd, Esq. J.P.
 They were met at Annacotty by Mr. Eyre Lloyd's tenantry and numbers of the people from the surrounding neighbourhood. About a hundred able young fellows, well dressed, with silk scarfs, took the horses from their carriage, and drew it three miles in good style to their hospitable home amidst the joyous shouts and blessings of the assembled multitude. On their arrival at Prospect bonfires and tar barrels blazed in every direction.
 In the evening a substantial and abundant supper was prepared for the people, and many a glass was filled high to the health and happiness of the new married pair, after which the music was loudly called for, and jigs and reels were kept up until a late hour in the morning, when all departed for their respective homes, delighted with their hospitable entertainment.
