

and 10s. each from Captain Baynes, and Miss E. Frome, Guernsey, per the Rev. John Elmes; and £4 collected by Miss Lizzie Mary Sibthorpe.

We have great pleasure in directing attention to the announcement in our advertising columns of the annual services to be held to-morrow at the Wesleyan Chapel, Georges-st., on which occasion the claims of one the most deserving, as it is one of the most extensive of the Christian Missionary Societies will be advocated by the Rev. C. Prest, of London. The religious world will know that the Wesleyan body has ever occupied the first place in the missionary field, and so extended have the ramifications of this stupendous undertaking become that it exercises a spiritual influence over at least one million of the heathen world, who are thus brought in contact with the Word of Life.

The Rt. Rev. Dr. Ryan will officiate in St. John's parish chapel on Easter Sunday, for the celebration of pontifical high mass.

All the Roman Catholic Chapels in this City exhibited a blaze of light on Thursday evening, and the altars were covered with flowers of every hue, in honour of the institution of the Eucharistic sacrament by Our Lord at his last supper. Yesterday those edifices were hung in mourning, for the bitter passion and death of our Redeemer upon the Cross.

The decoration of the altar of St. John's Chapel on Holy Thursday night was strikingly beautiful; on Good Friday night at 7 o'clock the Passion sermon was preached by the Rev. J. Quinlan, by whom the sermon on the Resurrection will be preached on Sunday at last Mass.

The sermon on the Passion was preached in Bruff Chapel by the Rev. James Hickey, R.C.C. St. John's, Limerick. The chapel was filled with a respectable congregation from Bruff and the surrounding parishes, and all were moved to tears by the eloquent and pathetic narration of the sufferings of our Lord.
