

DEATHS.

At Spring-hill, Tramore, county Waterford, where some weeks ago he was ordered for change of air, and after a lingering illness, Philip M'Adam, Esq. of Spring hill, county Clare, aged 66. He is deservedly and deeply regretted by his tenants and the poor around, to whom he ever was a kind friend; and his afflicted family have to deplore one of the best of husbands and parents. His remains will leave for the family vault at Parteen to-morrow morning, at half past 6 o'clock.

At her house in Glentworth-street, on Sunday last, Margaret, relict of the late Michael Potter, of Spring Lodge, Esq. In every relation of social life—as a friend, a wife, and mother, few have equalled this amiable lady; and the deep regret of her acquaintances and family for her loss can only be mitigated by the assured hope that her many virtues are now securing a more than earthly reward. Her remains were yesterday deposited beside those of her beloved husband in the family burial ground in Askeaton Abbey.
