

To-morrow, the general day of thanksgiving for the fall of Sebastopol, will be observed in England and Wales. In Ireland, a day will be fixed by the Privy Council for the same observance.

The Dowager Countess Dunraven, and Captain the Hon. Windham Quin, Grenadier Guards, have arrived on a visit to the Rt. Hon. William Monsell, M. P., at his residence Elliot Lodge, Blackbeath.

Francis W. Russell, Esq. M. P. is on a visit with his father, at Miltown Malbay.

Robert Maxwell, Esq. D. L. and family, returned this day to Islanmore-house, Croom, from Kilkee.

We regret to announce that Peter O'Brien, Esq. for many years the able and assiduous Stamp distributor of this city, county, and Co. Clare, died on Thursday last in Dublin. There are already candidates for the office, which has been latterly much reduced in value.

Mrs. Baron Richards is at her seat, Seafeld, Liscaunnor, and numerous families yet remain at the sea.

Sir Mathew Barrington, Bart. and family have arrived at the hotel, Miltown Malbay, en route to Moher and Lisdoonvarna. The hotel at Miltown is quite full at this late season, and, the weather is so fine, numerous parties daily visit the Cliffs of Moher. A single line of railway is contemplated from Ennis to Miltown. There is an immense traffic in butler and seaweed from the entire locality of the coast to the interior. Property in that neighbourhood would be vastly benefitted by such a line.

Mr. Bond, the Conservative candidate for Armagh borough, is supported by the Lord Primate Beresford but he does not pledge himself to vote against the Maynooth endowment, though pressed by his party.

The Marquis of Sligo is on a visit to his brother Lord R. N. Browne, 7th Fusileers, before Sebastopol.

This day the bureau of the Limerick Institution was removed to the late concerns of the School of Design, adjoining the Chamber of Commerce, George's street.

One of the finest seasons ever remembered before, the Autumnal equinox this present month
