

to his quarters. He had a fair and impartial and the gentlemen who sat in judgment upon him every opportunity to establish a defence but he utterly failed. The deed was committed without any provocation or without any aggravating circumstances. He was sentenced to be hung, but the Commander-in-Chief caused it to be so far mitigated as to allow him to be shot.

There was a large concourse gathered to witness the execution. Estelle walked with a firm step by the side of the Rev. Father of the Church, who prayed with him from the guard-house to the place of execution.

When he arrived at the spot where he was to breathe his last, he requested that his hands might be untied, and he wished to address the crowd. This request being granted, he spoke in a firm unfaltering voice. In his speech he asked forgiveness of the officers and soldiers of the Nicaraguan Army. Voices responded from the ranks, "God forgive you!"

While in prison he wrote the following address, which he requested to have published:—

Granada, Sept. 15, 1856.

These are the dying declarations of Jennings Es-

James Esq. born in Marshall, Tennessee, in the year 1833, was raised from my infancy in Hinds county, Mississippi. I started to California in 1852. On the road I had a difficulty with a man of the name of Howard, who shot me. I afterwards shot a man of the name of Esq., but the wound did not happen to prove fatal. The same year I had a difficulty with Charles Ross, and stabbed him in three places. My last two difficulties, while in California, occurred at the State Prison, where I had been employed for the last two years. After getting in the last scrape I came to California, and shot Thomas Edwards. I afterwards shot Charles Gordon. I must say that in all my difficulties I was not once in my right mind. Twice I had been forgiven and hope to be forgiven for them all. I believe there is a God in Heaven that will and can forgive, and He knows, and I know, that it was not I who killed Charles Gordon. It was whiskey and my mind that did it. I say that I was not in my right mind when I did the deed, and God knows it.—Forgive me, officers and soldiers, and I can die a happy
