this city, amounting to about £21,000 each there are rated in this city 6,700 tenement number there are about 1,300 entitled to the franchise at £8, and upwards. By a late retu-are rated at and under £5, 4,600 persons ; jority of this latter class of rate payers are p-very humble circumstances, many of whom v-led upon to pay those rates are obliged to themselves and families of their means of suband when we look at the frightful burden of and in many instances the unnecessary ob-which a large proportion is frequently ap-strongly illustrates the position in which we Further, you are to bear in mind, that day passes at a meeting of the Corporation, of its members are not prepared with notices o-proposing new and unnecessary work ; in-salaries to officers, many of whom are receivthe sums that honest and trustworthy perso-gladly take and discharge the duties to the ent-faction of the parties interested.

It does not admit of any doubt the gross levied in taxes for municipal purposes, during few years amounts annually to about £12, sum in addition to the receipts for tolls and of the Corporation property, viz., lands and is certainly a large sum laid out for corpo-poses, and should be placed as facts before thand particularly so for the serious consideratiproductive classes of Rate Payers.

What, in the name of common sense, is the the lethargy into which the people have falleeventful crisis ? Has the spirit of self-defe-totally extinguished from amongst us ? If is only one remedy, namely,—the citizens cotogether for their protection, and calling on th-bers who are constantly disposed to increase dens, to resign ;—that better and more trumen may be sent to take their place at th-board, which many of the present membe-worthily occupy.

Form an association—afford the Rate opportunity of meeting, consulting, and takitogether,—call this association any name y-but let it work daily and weekly with vigi-duty and indefatigable zeal.

Had a Club been formed during the last f-you would not have to pay such heavy Ann-with a debt of £40,000 hanging over your which it is evident, must be paid at no dista-A Club would prevent certain members fr-away your means. By doubling the salaries officers, voting compensation for past service and as recently transpired at the Barrist-that the shameful sum of £101 10s. has beto your overpaid Town Clerk for preparing liamentary Voters' Lists, and charging p-fees for work that may be done by any ordi-And above all, begging you with Law C-tuting suits where there was no certainty nor the slightest benefit likely to be obtain-

The Elections are now approaching. The men will have the modesty to ask you for port. They have done you harm enough alrebetter men in their stead, who will effect rein every department. Act with firmness a-sense. This is your only remedy at present
