

was agreed that the agricultural implements should be put up at prices not less than half the first

Mr. Sarsfield said they had every reason to feel satisfied with the progress of agriculture in the country, by which they would not be subject to the excesses that prevailed in New York and various portions of the continent.

The Chairman said that Professor Murphy had attracted a great deal of attention to the subject of the description of residences suitable to the requirements of the poor, and he hoped they would have an opportunity of discussing the matter in a practical manner.
