

Morrison and Geraldine Cam-former wrote in 1603, and the Cambrensis was a Bishop and a and came over to this country with and with the feelings of an enemy wrote and largely represented this country. Morrison Lord Mountjoy, deputy for Elizabeth, a courtier, a sycophant, and a most pre-; but Camden, who looked upon every-eye of candour and a mind of genius, and, that—"The records of every country,
 with those of Ireland, were but as fictions Ireland, therefore, was not barbarous in it was not possible that she could be so architecture, although in ruins, shows forth of refinement and of skill. When we look red and written language—her palaces—hers, which raise their pinnacles towards her laws, and her civil institutions—it is any one to say with truth that Ireland was ven long before what are called the middle in fact, no country which possessed a writ-could be called barbarous. The rev. gen-some observations on the architecture and Ireland, proceeded to read extracts from the psalter of Cashel, all of which went Ireland was the seat of learning—how, her kings, princes and nobles, built and endowed churches, monasteries and universities—how ere were at one time 3000 scholars—how founded a monastery at Mungret, and end how he was the first Bishop of Limerick of the parish now known as St. Munchin's, and was called the "The Island of Saints".
 ke of the ravages of the Danes—how they by—Malichi
 wore the collar of gold he won from the proud invader.
 expelled by that great Prince and King, the Brian Borrhoime, or, "Brian the Conciliator," at skill which he displayed in conciliating all men who came within his influence. He then introduction of Christianity, which, he asser-e originally from Asia Minor, because in there were formed seven churches, after the es of Asia. He then came down to the An-invasion, and from thence went through a of the history of this country from that event reign of Elizabeth; and then contended from architecture of the ancient Irish being differ-t of the Anglo Normans; from the thrusting men into Sees, as Bishops,—and over Abbeys, that the religion of the ancient Irish was pure n, but corrupted by the crushing power of the Church of Rome, and concluded a most ecture, amidst general applause.
 ology was then sung, future lectures were and the meeting separated.

rs of Mercy thankfully acknowledge the 5 from Mrs. Honan for the sick and suffer-es' Clothing Society gratefully acknowledge of 11. from Peter Tait, Esq.; 11. worth of Messrs. Rowington & Co.; and a large valuable clothing from Messrs. Todd & Co., 88.

of the late Charles Phillips, Esq.
 Thomas Dunne, Esq. of Bircher-hall, Herefordshire, to Harriet Frances, daughter of the late General Russell, of Ashford Hall, Shropshire.

DEATHS.

In Francis-street, Kilrush, on Saturday last, after a protracted and painful illness, which she bore with christian resignation, Margaret, the beloved wife of Mr Michael Kelly.
 The demise of this amiable lady is much regretted, while to the poor, to whom she was a kind benefactor, her loss is irreparable.

On the 14th instant, suddenly, at Corbally, Limerick, aged 60, Anne, relict of John Smith, Esq, late of Henriette-street, Dublin. proctor of the Court of Prerogative.

At Kilrush, on the 14th inst, Alice, relict of Capt Jackson, Clare Militia.

Suddenly, at Lower Baggot-street, Dublin, Lieut-General Nicholas Hamilton, KH, Colonel of the 82nd Regiment, aged 78 years.

In Galway, Captain Wm Knight, of the 28th Regt. and formerly of the 44th, in which latter corps he served with much distinction in the Peninsular war.

At Stafford Lodge county Waterford, Ellen, daughter of the late Pierse Barron Stafford, Esq, JP.

Alice Alexandrina Ridge, relict of the late Rev Jones Ridge, Rector of Cahil.

At Farnans, Queen's County, Mr James Fleming.

At Sandymount, S Wallace Doyle, son of R Doyle, Esq, MA, of Newcastle, county Wicklow.

At Lower Pembroke-street, Dublin, Cuthbert Fetherston H, Esq, of Derrahiney, county Galway.

At Southsea, Dorcas Ballingall, widow of the late Col David J Ballingall.

At Monkstown, county Dublin, Captain W B Stanton, late 91st Regt.

At Harristown, county Louth, Mrs Mary Coleman, relict of Piers Coleman, Esq.

At Essex-quay, Dublin, Mr Joseph Chapman.

At Blessington, Robert Hall, Esq, late of Little Rath, county Kildare.

At Spring Garden-terrace, London, Terence W Flanagan, Esq. CB.

At Clonmore, Stillorgan, Henry Fulton, Esq, MD.

At Upper Leeson-street, Dublin, Mary, wife of J Wardlaw.
 Emma, relict of the late Richard Devine, Esq, of Ullard, county Kilkenny.

Mary, relict of Robert Stevenson, Esq, of Ardkill, in the county of Derry.

At Blessington-street, Dublin, Thomas W Warren, Esq.

At Stephen's-green, Dublin, Thomas Litton, Esq.

At Upper Dorset-street, Dublin, Mary, daughter of the late John Bryce, Esq.

At Ballyclare, Alexander Haslett, formerly of Dungiven, county Derry.

In America, Washington Irving, the distinguished author.

At Worthing, Capt Henry E Jones, 6th Regt.

At Melbourne, Victoria, John, son of the late John Macdowell, Esq, of Mariton, county Wicklow; and wrecked on board the Royal Charter, with her husband and family, Anna Fowler, daughter of the above.

At Sydenham, Colonel the Hon John Walpole. The deceased officer served with the Guards in the Peninsula, and was severely wounded at the siege of Burgos.

At Tunbridge-wells, Anne, widow of Major-General Sir John M'Gaskill, KCB.

At Pinchbeck, Lincolnshire, the Rev Trapaud Smyth, son of
 of the late John Smyth, barrister-at-law, of Dublin.

At St John's-wood, London, Helen Isabella, daughter of the late Major-General Bagnold.

At Calcutta, Henry Holroyd, Esq, barrister-at-law, son of the late Sir George S Holroyd, formerly one of the judges of the Court of Queen's Bench, London.

At Florence, Edmund Wm Elton, Esq, son of the late Sir Charles A Elton, Bart, of Somerset.

At Hampton-court Palace, London, Jane, widow of the late Ashburnham Bulley, Esq, of her Majesty's Exchequer.

At Phoolbagh, near Gwalior, East India, Walter Digby Seymour, Captain 17th Lancers, son of W Digby Seymour, Esq, of Lowndes-square, London.

Suddenly, at Grasswell, Northumberland, Alice Henrietta, wife of John Henry Jenkinson, Esq, and daughter of the late Sir Wm Gordon Cumming, Bart, of Aityre.

At Paris, Henry Wm Rumley, Esq, Surgeon in the Bengal Artillery.

Dec. 10

THE SUBSC
 Eliza and J
 The Cargo is Princesses, Dutche

TIMBER, DEAL

Leitrim Stre

December 10.

Masonic

Sir James O
 33rd.

George Chat

Michael Fur

Thomas Som

R. H. H. B

Joseph V. O

Paul Limric

George Rob

James E. S

David Hadd

Major A. H

Richard R.

John Limric

A SUITABLE
 Lodge having be 15 have resolve build a MASONIC not adapted to and is only held We, therefore,
 other Lodges to reason for apply Craft, is to em
 also be let for which are like place in the t exclusively to a Orphan Asylum
 Committee may

It is also p rying out this
 MASTER MA
 AND APROI
 be given on the Ticket being fir all Brethren to dertaking. The on the FIRST Subscription
 duly acknowle
 be had on appl
 JOHN
 Secretary
 Dec 10