DEATHS.

On yesterday, at Manus House, county Clare, after a short illness, Terence Healy, Esq. The premature death of this gentleman, in the very prime of life, is a source of the deepest affliction to a sorrowing wife and a young family. By his numerous friends and acquaintances the melancholy event will be heard of with much and sincere regret. In every relation of life he was highly respected, fulfilling every social obligation with the strictest integrity, and carrying into every transaction a high sense of duty and honour. In his domestic character he was all that could be desired—a fond husband, an affectionate father, a sincere friend, and generous employer.
