OF THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE.

Your paper of yesterday (Tuesday, morning I was surprised to find at the public meeting in Limerick reported. I am always anxious to be accurate in what I state, and for one, much more the public. I will kindly allow this letter of error in your next issue. Without minor misrepresentations, I will which bear upon facts.

In reference to my quotation from Carbook (The Doctrines of the I simply said he repeated or book that converts were made from the Church of Rome by and taking it as the only rule of doing in it the peculiar doctrines as Transubstantiation, Auricular Confession, &c., they concluded that the truth these, was not the religion of the people, and therefore abandoned them. It was stated in that book, when sent to their priests and told them these doctrines in the bible, they shut up the book which was lead. The conclusion at which your review, is the very opposite of this. That the intercession (not intention) of Christ, was virtually set aside and the intercession of the Blessed Virgin
