

upon us to point attention. The less, an unpretending but extremely chaste one, has been put up by Lieut. Colonel Gloster, to the memory of his uncle, a veteran officer of eminence, distinguished in the principle engagements of the Peninsula. The inscription is inlaid in brass and colours on a background of black marble, and the tablet is here unique in character and purity. We have now to glance at the greater, and by far the most striking monumental feature in this, or, perhaps, any Irish Cathedral. We allude to the first class specimen of sculpture just executed, and this very day uncovered, in remembrance of the late Thomas Westropp, Esq., originated by the affection of his widow, who, however, in the Divine wisdom, was summoned to follow before she could be certified of the completion of this tribute to her partner's worth. It is from the atelier of Messrs Poole and Son, Westminster, and claims for them the most unqualified approbation. The mounting or setting, which includes both base and superstructure, and comprises the Corbels (of Bolsöver stone), and the string course, sills, tympanus, hood, crockets, and finials (of Caen), is from the tasteful and elaborate chisel of Mr Samuel Poole, while Mr Redfern, another young artist of the highest promise (brought out by the modern Meccenas, Mr Beresford Hope), has produced on the intervening slabs three tableaux of singular delicacy and striking effectiveness. These represent respectively the Agony, the Entombment, and the Resurrection of our Blessed Redeemer. The poses are singularly forcible and animated, and the expression fraught with the deepest sentiment.—Of the design and execution, a Canova, a Cellini, or a Chantrey might well be proud. Limit of space precludes our entering into minute detail; but we would invite all lovers of art to form their own estimate by personal examination, and we venture to affirm, with confidence, that none of our Irish cities can boast a superior evidence of artistic skill. We have merely to add that the entire arrangement, directed by Mr Slater, the distinguished London architect, has been efficiently superintended by our fellow townsman, W. Cox, Esq., C.E., and most successfully carried out by Mr Poole, jun., of the eminent English firm above mentioned.

On Tuesday last an examination of the Sunday School children of the parish of Kilkenny was held in the Clarina school by the Rev. Mr. Ward, of Kilmurry, and the Rev. Mr. O'Gready, of Mungret. After the examination the children were supplied with tea and cake, provided by the Rev. R. Dickson, rector of the parish. When tea was over, the Rev. Mr. Ward delivered a short address to the children, and expressed his pleasure at the very creditable way they answered, after which the children sang the National Anthem, and withdrew to the playground, where they enjoyed themselves until the shades of evening obliged the merry group to separate and return to their homes. Mrs. Vandeleur, Miss Vandeleur, and the younger members of the family, with Miss Scott and the Rev. L. M. Maunsell, attended during the examination, and kindly assisted at the tea-table to make the children happy.

this victory 6,500 prisoners, 2,800 horses, 500 wagons and military stores to the value of nearly 2,000,000 dols. The Court of Appeal at Albany have appointed the 26th to hear arguments on the validity of Mr. Chase's legal tender notes. The bank script has retained counsel in suits which have been brought against him for not compelling the bankers to pay specie according to the law.

The negro troops under Colonel Montgomery pillaged and burnt the town of Darien, Georgia, on 11th inst. Turpentine was poured on the floors of the church and other buildings, and they were set on fire. Cattle were shot in the street, and left there. All the negroes were forced to go with the Federals at the point of the bayonet, and negroes who attempted to run from them were shot through the head, and the rest carried on board their boats. The officers in command of the negroes are from the States of Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. On Sunday last a mob of Irishmen broke open the gaol at Newberg on Hudson River, and seized a negro who it was alleged had outraged an Irish girl, and having beaten him until almost dead, hung him upon a tree by the side of the court-house. The Roman Catholic Priest of the town attempted to restrain the fury of the crowd, but without avail.

It is stated that no legal proofs of the charge against the negro existed.

"TIMES'S" TELEGRAM.

NEW YORK, JUNE 23RD, 5 P.M.—General Pleasanton attacked General Stuart at Middlesburg on Sunday morning last. The Confederates made a determined resistance, and great slaughter ensued. For several hours neither side gained a decided advantage. The Confederates were eventually compelled to retire upon their infantry supports at Ashby's Gap with the loss of 2 cannons and upwards of 60 prisoners, among whom were several officers.

Telegrams from Harrisburg to-day report that the greatest excitement prevailed at Platsburg from fear of invasion, and that business was utterly suspended. The Confederate Cavalry are at Uniontown, 40 miles distant. The Confederates re-occupied Chambersburg this morning. The Federal troops at Chambersburg, under General Knife, fell back towards Harrisburg.

NEW-YORK, 22ND—EVENING.—Stock market better, and closed buoyantly. Money easier than it has been for some time. The general rate was 7 per cent. Gold pretty strong, at 143½; foreign exchange, 156¼ to 157. New-York central, 118½; Erie, 94½ to 94¼; Illinois central, 101½ to 102; cotton quite active; middling uplands closed buoyantly at 59c.; sales and receipts of breadstuffs heavy; flour, wheat, corn, and oats, were cheaper; freights more active; the enquiry for provisions and groceries was less active, without any general alteration in quotations. Tallow in more demand.

[Additional Telegrams, through Reuter, have been supplied, confirmatory of the above, but for which we have no room to-day.—Ed. L.C.]

AMERICAN AFFAIRS.

The Army and Navy Gazette says it is not generally understood how strong Washington is. It is beyond a coup de main. On one side there are six miles of earthworks consisting of redoubts heavily fortified. It is impossible to imagine that Lee can overrun Pennsylvania until he has crossed Hooker. The writer points out that if Lee can drive Hooker's army into Washington he might establish himself on the South side of the Potomac, and thence bombard and destroy the place at his leisure, but confesses that the real object of Lee is not yet apparent.

The Times has a leader on the 4th of July anniversary. A review of the past must render it a day of humiliation; but as the present policy of the North has led so near to ruin, its reversal must be the only path that can conduce to safety.

The Daily News on the subject thinks the Americans of the North can honour this day with more pride than ever in their country.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS AND THE RECOGNITION QUESTION.

The Daily News strongly objects to the long postponement of Mr. Roebuck's motion. The policy of

The following twenty-four gentlemen were chosen under the old system, before the Clerk of the Crown, in the Queen's Bench Office, on Tuesday, as the special jury panel in the case of the Mayor of Belfast v. ERRATA.—Mr. John Enright, of Ralahine, Newmarket-on-Fergus, has called at our office and satisfactorily explained that he was not the person of that name who was fined by the magistrates at our City Petty Sessions last week for being engaged in a melee in John's square. It is necessary to make this announcement in justice to Mr. Enright's character, but the mis-statement was not attributable to our reporter, who gave the defendant's name as stated in court, and as it now appears on record in the jail and court books.
