American Provisions.

I HAVE just discharged, ex "European," Steamship, 95 Boxes of the best American Bacon (Old), which, I believe, has for a long time been imported into this country. The Bacon is now lying under cover in the New Dock, and will be carted to the different Railways, direct from the Dock, as sold.— Samples can be seen at my Warehouse, 3, High-street. This is a good opportunity for the Trade to supply their wants. During the last six weeks, American Bacon has advanced 8s. per cwt. This rise is partly attributable to the improved quality of the new Meat, and the unwillingness of the New York Merchants to accept European prices at the scale at which they have stood. The Americans want more money still for their Bacon, and, as far as I can judge, they will get it. Those who will send to my shop for a 10lb. New York Ham, at 7½d., will see that the difference, in a great measure, consists in name only. To supply the wants of the present season, I have just imported some very prime Red Herrings.

Small Barrels for families, 10s. each; or 9d. and 1s. per dozen. Very large size, 1s. 6d. per dozen.
