

you should act in respect to them. But there should be two cases on the calendar which require should address some observations to you, in to guide you, when you hear the evidence in t of them, in coming to a just and proper con i upon them. In the first of these cases to I have alluded, a man is charged with firing a some persons who were in a boat on the river o. The man charged was a caretaker for the man who owns the fishery here. There were in a boat on the river. He warned them off, fore they obeyed his order he fired a pistol at and they say there were balls in the weapon. gentlemen, permit me to tell you that this is a serious offence, indeed—for if he intended to them, and did so, he would subject himself to re punishment; but if, on the other hand, you be of opinion that he did not intend to shoot but merely fired near them so as to alarm them, at he was in such a position as would render the ag of them easy, but did not fire at them with eadly intent, still the firing at them at all would assault, because, although he may not intend to them, or harm them, and although such fearful may not have entered his mind, still something take his nerves, or turn his hand, and the bullet o where it never was intended it should go, and gh the bullet may not strike, or go near the mark ch it is alleged it was aimed at, still the law says an assault, and shall be dealt with accordingly. v orship then proceeded to explain the law in ases). Then there is a second case on the calen- which a charge is preferred against a sub-con- of police, and here I need not tell you that the force is watched over with the most scrupulous nd anxiety, and all for the public good; every arity is severely reprimanded, and every offence punished, and therefore the individual charged ust be considered as a person of good character, ise he would not be selected as a person of

It was his duty, according to the police regu- to pay to other constables little sums of six- each. It was his duty to pay these small sums ain of the constabulary located in his station; y they little or much, he was bound to pay them. ears that he paid two or three men, but did not vo others, which defalcation, or rather neglect y, amounted to half a crown. He, however, l them on his list as if he had paid them. That is was contrary to his duty, for when he so en- these names on his list he should have previously hem, and this act was a breach of the regula- y which the duties of the police are carried on, is punishable by the police regulations, if they hered to their rules, but they have sent it be- is court. There is one other case of stabbing; only brought before the court this morning. It s that two or three men were in a public house g, when one of them, Casey, stabbed the other. are the only observations I have to address to relation to your duties, and you will now re- discharge them.

Jury then retired to consider the bills, and after time came into court, and stated that they had the bill sent up to them in the police constab- use, which every one in court, who understood ure and extent of the charge, said was a very finding.

THE MARKET JURY.

Following were sworn on the Market Jury:— William Naughton (foreman), John Molloy, Mann, Wm. MacNay, John Kenny, John Patrick O'Connor, Coleman O'Connell, John J. John C. Hanrahan, James Hanrahan, and Childerhouse.

Chairman said that he was happy to hear that ner market jury had discharged their duty well d co-operated in an efficient manner with his p the Mayor in the performance of their im- public duties, and trusted that the present would imitate the example so worthily set y their predecessors. His Worship then di- them to meet the Mayor at the Town Hall on at 3 o'clock, when they would be informed as nature of those duties which they would have rm towards all classes of their fellow-citizens.

APPEALS.

P. Lynch (solicitor), applied on the part of Mr. Roger, who was nominally the appellant, in of Messrs. John N. Russell and Sons against r Law valuation, to allow the case to stand til next session; and also that the case of the pellant against the Poor Law rating should djourne to the same time. He (Mr. Lynch) ommunicated with Mr. Bolton, solicitor for the aw Commissioners, on the subject of the first and with Mr. Joseph Murphy, solicitor for arditions in the second matter, and had the wounding him, else, if he did so intend the bullets would have struck the boat or its occupants.

The Court held that after that answer the indictment could not be sustained, and directed the jury to acquit the prisoner.

The prisoner was then indicted and given in charge to the same jury for a misdemeanour, in firing loaded fire arms on the highway, and also for an assault. The prisoner withdrew his plea of Not Guilty, and pleaded Guilty to these charges.

Mr. Ellard read an affidavit in mitigation, which set forth that he was a water-bailiff, in the employ- ment of Mr. Malcomson, and seeing two men in an angling cot and having called on them to pull up and tell him if they had permission to fish, and that re- ceiving no answer he fired the revolver which he had for his own protection, not at them, but to frighten the parties off the property of his employer. He re- gretted the act which he committed out of zeal for the preservation of his employer's property.

The prisoner handed in a most excellent character from Major Jones and from the Colonel of the 17th, in which regiment he served during the Indian mutiny and Crimean war.

The Court, in giving judgment, observed that the prisoner should know, and it should be publicly known to every one that firing loaded arms on a highway or river, which was as much a highway as a county road, should not be allowed; and after commenting on the facts concluded by imposing a fine of £5, to be payable to the Queen, on the first offence; and with respect to the second, he should be bound in £50 to come up for judgment when called on.

Mr. Ellard paid the fine, and the prisoner was dis- charged.

THE LIMERICK RIOTS.

The several persons charged with the late riots in Limerick, on the 29th of June last, and for having then and there disturbed the peace of her Majesty's subjects, were called on their several recognizances, and having surrendered in discharge thereof, were placed at the bar and called on to plead.

Mr. O'Loughlin, counsel on the part of Catherine Cloughessy, one of the accused, demurred to the indict- ment as follows, viz.:—"the said Catherine Clough- hessy, in her own proper person, cometh into court, &c., and saith that the said indictment and the mat- ters therein contained in manner and form as the same are stated, and set forth are not sufficient in law, and that, therefore, she was not by the law of the land called on to answer the same, and where- fore for want of a sufficient indictment in this be- half she prayed judgment, and that by the court she may be dismissed and discharged from the said charges in the indictment so specified."

The other prisoners also demurred.

Mr. Murphy, on the part of the Crown, handed in a replication to the demurrers, and the court having pro forma overruled the demurrer, the several parties were called on to plead which they did by recording a plea of Not Guilty, and were given in charge to Jury No. 1.

Mr. P. Murphy stated the facts of the case, which have already been laid before the public in the columns of the LIMERICK CHRONICLE at the time of their occurrence.

Thomas Hamilton, Esq., S.I., (now stationed in Cork, but at the time of the riots in this City), de- posed to the riot which commenced opposite the Ar- tillery Barracks, the people forming which were throw- ing stones into the barrack; he did not see any of the parties now in the dock there, but he subse- quently saw Gerald Keating (a boy) pelting stones at the police, and arrested him after a pretty smart run; he also identified Cronin (another prisoner) as an exciter of the mob for he was speaking very loud, and in an excited manner; he arrested Cronin, but he was rescued by the mob, and received a blow of a stone on the hand which cut him; Head Constable Con- nora was dangerously wounded in the head; Mr. Hamilton identified Humphrey Freeman (another pris- oner); the conduct of the mob was exceedingly violent, and calculated to alarm the peaceable citizens.

Mr. O'Loughlin cross examined the witness, who said he saw stones thrown out of the bar- racks by the artillery. In the course of the evening it was verbally and officially reported to him that during the funeral procession of the Rev. Mr. O'Carroll, C.C., and as it came opposite the ar- tillery barracks, a stone was thrown out of them, which struck Mr. Devitt, a county magistrate, who was in the procession; he also knew that the Rev. Mr. O'Carroll was very popular, and deservedly so with the people.

Head-Constable Moodie was examined, and identi- fied Grant and Gorman, and Magrath, as being en- gaged in the riot and pelting stones into the barracks; he saw Major Forde come out of the barracks at the head of some men; he (witness) begged of Major

John Waller, Esq., of a daughter.

At Tipperary, the wife of J. T. Morrissey, Esq., Coroner, of a daughter.

At Elmville, Clonmel, the wife of John Burke, Esq., of a son.

At South Mall, Cork, the wife of Wm. Athill, Esq., of a daughter.

At Brighton-avenue, Rathgar, Dublin, the wife of T. P. A. Taggart, Esq., of a son.

At Cardtown, Queen's County, the wife of Lieut.-Colonel Boldero, of a daughter.

At Roundstone, county Galway, the wife of the Rev. Thos. H. Fleming, incumbent of Moyrus, of a son.

At Piercetown, co. Kildare, the wife of Richard Mangan, Esq., of a son and heir.

At Charles-street, Mayfair, London, the Viscountess Stor- mont, of a son.

At Calveley, the Lady Constance Grosvenor, of a daughter.

At Chester-square, Pimlico, London, the wife of the Rev. John H. Snowden, of a daughter.

At Jersey, the wife of St. George Gray, Esq., 1st Royals, of a daughter.

At Belgaum, Bombay, the wife of E. H. R. Langley, M.B., Assistant-Surgeon 24th Regt. N.I., of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

At St. Peter's Church, Dublin, Mansell Walter Bedford, Esq., son of the late Captain Bedford, R.N., to Catherine Rountrie, daughter of Henry Higginson, Esq., late Collector of her Majesty's Customs.

At St. Peter's Church, Dublin, Wm. Beatty, Esq., Derry- doon, Newtownbutler, to Jane, daughter of Robert Arm- strong, Esq., Clinkeshan House, Clones.

At the First Presbyterian Church, Monaghan, the Rev. Geo. Steen jun., A.M., Keady, county Armagh, to Sarah Lyle, daughter of James M. Ross, Esq., Lisearney, Monaghan.

At the parish church, Belfast, Hiram Shaw Wilkinson, A.B., H.M.C.S., to Prudie, daughter of Thomas Gaffikin, Esq., Queen's Elms, Belfast.

At Coolbanagher Church, George Thompson, Esq., of Rath- feston, Queen's County, to Sidney, daughter of the late Samuel Coen, Esq., of Dangan House, in the same county.

At Portishead, Somersetshire, William Raffles Brown, of Dublin, architect, to Annie, daughter of Henry Evans, of Como Villa, Portishead.

At St. Leonard's-on-Sea, Thomas Drinkwater Williams, Commander R.N., to Fanny Mary, daughter of James Gale, Esq., of Rosherville, Kent.

At St. John's Church, Middleton, Warwickshire, Albert Antoine Auguste Edmond, son of the late Captain Pierre An- toine Brelant, to Frances Grace, daughter of John Peel, Esq., M.P., of Middleton Hall.

At Kussowli, India, Brigadier-General Brind, C.B., Royal Artillery, to Jane, daughter of the late Rev. D. H. Maunsell, of Balbriggan, county Dublin.

At Melbourne, Australia, the Rev. Thomas Hill Goodwin, Church Missions, to Letitia Going, daughter of Richard Pen- nefather, Esq., county Tipperary.

At Capetown, Cape of Good Hope, John Herrick Corbett, C.E., son of Richard Corbett, Esq., M.D., of Cork, to Mary, daughter of the late Richard Townly, Esq., of Capetown.

DEATHS.

In Cornwallis-street, on Tuesday evening, after an illness of short duration, Bridget, relict of the late Mr. Terence O'Brien, chandler, greatly regretted.

At Lismore, very much regretted, William Rodgers, Esq., late of this city.

At his residence, Summerhill, Nenagh, in the 33rd year of his age, George Prior, Esq., proprietor of the Nenagh Guar- dian newspaper.

On the 22nd inst., at Knockane, county Clare, Anna, the beloved child of Patrick MacMahon, Esq., aged two years and eight months.

At Springfield, Ballingarry, county Tipperary, Mrs. Power. At Barnra, county Tipperary, Anastasia Mary, daughter of Mr. Pierce Britt.

At Mail-lane, Waterford, Mr. Richard Purcell, proprietor of the Queen's Arms Hotel.

At Baresford-street, Waterford, Mr. Patrick Maher. At Passage West, the Rev. Wm. Cotter Williamson, Rector of Lisgoold, county Cork.

At Ballyready, county Cork, John Fetnam, Esq. At George's-street, Cork, Mr. Michael Millerick.

At Killarney, county Kerry, Albert L. Jenner, Esq. At Aughrim-street, Dublin, George Alexander Seton, Esq.

At Kenilworth-square, North, Dublin, Maria Josephine, daughter of Terence Ingoldsby, Esq.

At St. James's-terrace, Dublin, Hugh O'Brenan Clinch, Esq. At Usher's-quay, Dublin, Catherine, wife of M. B. Lacy, Esq., and daughter of the late Joseph Mayne, Esq., solicitor.

At Dame-street, Dublin, Mr. J. O'Connor. At Upper Leeson-street, Dublin, Miss Louisa Edgeworth, of Longwood, county of Meath.

At Rochestown-avenue, Kingstown, Talbot Hamilton, son of Mr. Talbot Coak.

At Harcourt-road, Dublin, Mr. Francis Keegan. At Kilglass Glebe, Henry Crofton, son of the Rev. Thomas Lloyd, vicar of Kilglass, diocese of Elphin.

In Dublin, Mr. George Eager, many years a compositor on the Freeman's Journal, a native of Tralee.

At Dirlingstown, county Kilkenny, Mr. John Dunphy, late of the Irish College, Rome.

At King-street, St. James's, London, Peter Routledge Montague Browne, of Janeville, St. John's Point, D.I., J.P., county of Down, Major Royal South Devonshire Light In- fantry, late Captain 9th Regt.

At Montreal, Canada, Robert Henry Collis, son of the late Rev. Robert Fitzrerald Collis, Rector of Killoconnell, county Galway.

At Upper Belgrave-place, Pimlico, London, Edward Davis, Esq., M.R.C.S. and L.S.A.

At Aberdeen, Captain J. H. Furneaux, R.N., Acting Com- mander of the Coastguard.

At Edinburgh, Walter Nugent, Esq., of Chester-street, Bel- gravia, London, Baron of the Austrian Empire.

At Woolwich Common, Morgan Thomas, Esq., Inspector-General of Hospitals.

At Cheltenham, the Rev. James Dalziel Simpson, formerly Fellow and Tutor of Sidney Sussex College, Cambridge.

At Great Yarmouth, the Rev. Mark Waters, incumbent of St. George's Chapel, in that place.

The Rev. Stephen Westbrook, incumbent of St. John's, Huddersfield.

At Dieppe, Richard Hill, Esq., son of Lieut. Richard Hill, the last surviving Peninsular officer of the 9th Regt.