DEATHS.

At Doon House, near Broadford, on the 22nd inst., after a few days' illness, of inflammation of the brain, Richard Bentley, Esq. It may be truly and sincerely stated, that few whose spirits have taken their flight from their "earthly house of this tabernacle," for, it is hoped, a "building not made with hands, and eternal, which is far better," are more regretted than he is by his numerous friends and acquaintances. His remains will be interred on to-morrow, at 11 o'clock, at Kilseely, the family burial ground.

On the morning of Wednesday, the 17th of May inst., at
