

family, consisting of a woman with 6 children, 1 a husband, labouring under bronchitis and disease the heart, placed on out-door relief. This family ed in the division of Ballycarron, and if they had come into the workhouse they would cost the rate-ers of the division over £40 a year, whereas by owing them this small pittance of out-door relief y would only cost the union £15 12s a-year.

Mr. M. R. Ryan seconded the resolution and did with the greatest possible pleasure. The Mayor suggested that the relieving officer of a division should at once give provisional relief to s poor family. The experimental dispensing of door relief had worked so well that he (the Mayor) t sure that when he came to look for a renewal of e vote he would have the entire of the board with n.

Mr. MacMahon, in explanation of his former vote ouch was in opposition to outdoor relief, said that he s under the impression that a sealed order should me down from the Commissioners compelling the ard to grant outdoor relief to all the unemployed le bodied labourers about town, but as the out- or relief was at present dispensed there could be no use, and the board would be wanting in all sense feeling of charity and humanity if it were not ven to the class of poor people that were now ceiving it (hear, hear.)

After disposing of some routine business the board |journed.
