K INDIGENT ROOM KEEPERS' SOCIETY.

eting of this society held on Thursday, the op of Cork in the chair, appropriate ad-re delivered by his lordship, the Rev. Geo.
Sir John Arnott and others. Sir John coming forward to second a resolution, was with cheers. He said—My lord, I assure very much pleased when I heard that the Cork had suggested the holding of this ere this evening for the purpose of bringing

I regret to hear that the income of the ly amounts to £280 a year. I am sure say that this is a very insignificant sum for eful institution. (Hear, hear.) I know own experience that there is a vast amount ved poverty and suffering amongst the asses of the Protestant community in Cork. also from my own experience that there are these people who would rather continue to silence than even make their wants known, y friends I am one of those who believe, and e all believe, that in this world, at least, it y of the strong to assist the weak (applause). it is the duty of the fortunate to assist those unfortunate. We almost invariably find that o perform these duties are sure to receive the hemselves in this world. I know men who g been in the habit of laying aside a consi-portion of their income for benevolent pur-id if I were allowed to disclose their names evening you would say they were the luckiest a the world (laughter); you would see that g they touch prospers (hear). I know a gen-
