

...between the magistrates, said the Bench were of opinion that it was clearly proved, and that they were of opinion that the punishment they were about to inflict, if possible, a recurrence of such disturbances on a public road. The sentence of that Bolger should be imprisoned for three months hard labour, and Kenny for one month hard labour. The people of the country should be warned, and should not be treated in the manner in which Sir John Blunden had been when invading his way home. The court was of opinion that Majesty's subjects should be protected, and that the disturbances should be prevented.

JUDGMENTS.—Mr. Mark Perrin, a Barrister at Law, Justice Perrin, and a member of the Bench has been appointed to succeed the late Mr. Justice Perrin in connexion with this office. He is, we believe, a very popular and able man, who has conducted himself in his former office to the Lord Chancellor with perfect propriety. We presume he accepts the Regiments at his proper peril, as one that is aimed merely to provide him with a comfortable and needless heavy burden of government creditors and vendors of property.

The drama of "Black Eyed Susan" produced at the Haymarket Theatre, as a special feature of the performance (says the Australasian of November) is a representation of the character of Lady Don, who portrayed the noble characteristics of Jack Tar with surprising accuracy as though she had been 'to the sea' or passed the greater portion of her life in a man-of-war. In the course of the performance she sang 'The Bay of Biscay,' 'Bound for the West Indies,' and 'All in the Downs.' Her performance was enthusiastically re-decorated with double hornpipe, danced by 'William' who also encored."
