Cork Fresh Butter.

DURING the last three months there has been much difficulty in producing good butter even in Cork. The different changes of the weather have influenced the churning, and farmers who have generally enjoyed praise for good butter have this year been puzzled to account for failures. The dealer has only to do the best he can for his customers under these circumstances, and he should not be blamed if, by accident, he is obliged to sell an article which may not be first-class. J. Jacob wishes to say that he has this day made arrangements to receive a constant supply of fresh Cork Butter from one of the most famous Cork dealers, and he trusts that in future there will be but little cause for complaint. The butter will be forwarded, per passenger train from Cork, on the evening of the day on which it is made. As all the butter which arrived to-day from Cork is now sold, he will be out of stock until Thursday next.

The celebrated cod sounds can now be had from J. Jacob, price 3d. per lb.
