

The Daily News says—What the Chancellor of the Exchequer has to say next Monday ought to have been said last Monday. The resolutions being designed rather to hide the disagreements of the Cabinet than to disclose their policy. Until the proposals of Ministers are before Parliament in a definite shape, it is impossible for the Opposition to decide upon the course which it is expedient to take.

The Star says—"Political rumours are plentiful, though none of them are very definite. The course which the Liberal party will take in reference to the Reform proposition of the Government will not be determined upon until Thursday. Everything, however, indicates, that under no circumstances can the resolutions of Mr. Disraeli be accepted."

The Daily Telegraph anticipates further changes in the Ministerial treatment of Reform.

The Standard insists that government had no other choice than to proceed as they have done. Whether the resolutions will fulfil the intentions of their proposers, and prepare the way for a Reform Bill, depends entirely upon the action which the House may think fit to take.

A Cabinet Council was held on Saturday at the First Lord of the Treasury's in Downing-street. The Ministers were the Earl of Derby, the Lord Chancellor, the Duke of Buckingham and Chandos, the Earl of Malmesbury, the Right Hon. Spencer H. Walpole, Lord Stanley, Viscount Cranborne, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Pakington, Sir S. Northcote, Lord J. Manners, and the Hon. Gathorne Hardy.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales K.G. will take the chair at the annual meeting of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution on the 28th instant, which will be held at the Mansion House, by the kind permission of the Lord Mayor. His lordship has invited the Prince and Princess of Wales, and the Duke of Edinburgh to a dejeuner at the close of the meeting.

Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales has been suffering for several days from acute rheumatism, but that there is no symptom to cause anxiety.

Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales will visit Denmark in May next, in order to be present at the 25th anniversary of the King and Queen on the 26th of that month; and the occasion is to be one of great rejoicing; besides their Royal Highnesses, the King of Greece and the Hereditary Grand Duke of Russia and the Grand Duchess are to be present.

According to the latest arrangements her Majesty, accompanied by the Prince and Princess Christian, and the junior members of the Royal family, will leave Osborne for Windsor Castle on Wednesday or Thursday next.

On Saturday morning his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, accompanied by the Prince de Teck, and attended by Major Teesdale and suite, left Windsor Castle for London. Their Royal Highnesses, who had dined at the Spittal Cavalry Barracks with Colonel Baillie and the officers of the Royal Horse Guards, slept in the private apartments of the Palace on Friday night, with the intention of hunting with the Prince of Wales' harriers on Saturday. Their Royal Highnesses were, however, disappointed of their sport, for at about eleven o'clock a telegram was received at the Castle requiring the immediate presence of the Prince of Wales in London, on account of the rumoured sudden illness of the Princess. A special train was at once ordered for the Prince, and within a short time Mr. Dawson, the station agent of the Great Western Railway Company, had one provided. Their Royal Highnesses left the Castle at a quarter past eleven, and drove in an open carriage and pair to the Windsor terminus, where the Prince was received by Major General the Hon. A. N. Hood, and conducted to the saloon. The train quitted the Windsor terminus at 11.20 a.m., and reached Paddington at noon, and the Prince immediately drove to Marlborough House. Her Royal Highness had a slight attack of illness, but she was much better yesterday.

The following is the circular convening the liberal members of parliament to the meeting on the 21st, at Mr. Gladstone's residence, to consider the course to be taken in reference to the resolutions of the government, and on the reform question generally:—"Sir,—Mr. Gladstone takes the liberty to request your attendance at 11, Carlton-house-terrace, on Thursday, 21st inst., at half-past 2, on public business of pressing importance.—H. BRAND.—February 13, 1867."

The Times says that the prompt suppression of the Fenian movement alike in Chester and in Ireland has occasioned a general satisfaction, and has evidently strengthened the position of the government among all the friends of order.

The Daily News City Article says:—"The prompt suppression of the Fenian outbreak has helped to confirm the more favourable tendency of the Stock Market, but transactions continue on a restricted scale, and it is evident that a long time must elapse before the public will recover from the shock given to them by the gross joint stock scandals of the last few months."

Notice has appeared in the London Gazette announcing that his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales will, by command of the Queen, hold Levees at St. James's Palace, on behalf of her Majesty, on Monday, March 4, and on Wednesday next, March 20, at 2 o'clock.

Notice has appeared in the London Gazette, announcing her Majesty's intention to hold Courts at Buckingham Palace on the following days:—Thursday, March 7th and 14th, Saturday, March 23rd, and Tuesday, April 2nd; also on one day during the month of June, to be hereafter specified.

On Monday last the Lords of the Treasury, with a view of relieving the great distress prevailing at the East-end of London, gave authority to the War Department to order one thousand tons of iron fit for the manufacture of guns to the Millwall Iron Works Company.

We (Morning Herald) have been requested to state that the "Fenian chief, Captain Moriarty," is no relation of the distinguished Roman Catholic Bishop who presides over the diocese of Kerry, nor of the respected rector of Tralee. Neither is he connected with any of the gentlemen of that name who have the honor to serve her Majesty in either the naval, military, or civil service. It has been stated that this person's real name is Shea.

The Sunday Gazette says some of the principal members of the Liberal party, on Saturday, had a consultation, doubtless with a view to prepare some programme to be laid before the general meeting of the Opposition next Thursday. It is the wish of the most influential among the Liberals to avoid a party compact, in order sincerely and honestly to settle the Reform Bill. The Opposition are not prepared to sit and be talked out of session, and a reform bill at the same time. It is probable they will take the framework of the ministerial resolutions and fill them up and then if the government do not bring in a bill to carry them out, they can move a hostile vote.—One party or other must be ready to-morrow week with definite proposals. Another night of vagueness and inconclusive talk cannot be tolerated. The same paper says the Adullamites will not be represented at the meeting of the Liberal party on Thursday. Also that Mr. Lowe condemns the course taken by the admiral will proceed with all the ships under his command to the Falkland Islands. It is also reported that the Spaniards intend establishing a naval station at Monte Video, from which point they would be able to look after all ships, transports, and munitions of war that the republics may be necessitated to order from Europe or the United States.

The Scotsman states that Lord Glencorse will succeed the Right Hon. Duncan M'Neill as Lord Justice General of Scotland, and that though the Lord Advocate may, by right of custom, claim the highest office in the Court of Session for himself, Mr. Patton will waive his claim, and take the Lord Justice Clerkship. Mr. E. S. Gordon, Solicitor-General, will be the new Lord Advocate.

From Lima we have intelligence that the government of Peru have granted a concession to Messrs. Farrand, Brown, and Smith, American citizens, for the construction of a good macadamized road between the capital and Callao. They have the right to place a wooden line of railway at each side of the road, and have also power to establish within the cities of Lima and Callao street lines of railway in connexion with the wooden road.

The French budget for 1868 was held on Saturday before the Corps Legislatif. The expenditure is estimated at 1,548,775,621f., the receipts at 1,673,451,585f., showing an estimated surplus of 124,675,964f., which is carried to the credit of the extraordinary budget; other ways and means raise its revenue to 146,672,630f. The expenditure compared with the revenue shows a surplus of 2½ odd millions of francs, which are to be applied to the reduction of the national debt.

A communication was received late on Saturday evening by an adjutant of one of the volunteer corps in the vicinity of Blackheath, to the effect that the Fenians contemplated making a seizure of the arms belonging to the volunteers in that district. This intelligence having been communicated to General Ward, commanding the garrison at Woolwich, transport from the military train was dispatched upon Sunday morning by that officer, for the purpose of bringing the arms in question for safe custody to headquarters at Woolwich. We understand that the riding troop and a portion of the Marines at Woolwich were desired to hold themselves in readiness to turn out in case of any emergency.

COMMISSION OF OYER AND TERMINER. SATURDAY. TRIAL OF STEPHEN J. MEANY.

Baron Hughes charged the jury. Having recapitulated the evidence, he left the following questions for their decision:—Were they satisfied that there was evidence against the prisoner of his connection with the conspiracy? Were they satisfied of its object and its existence in Dublin, and of acts done by the conspirators in the city of Dublin? Were they satisfied that the prisoner was an Irish-born person? The fact of his being a member of the metropolitan police was sufficient to show that he was a subject of the Queen. If they really were not satisfied that the prisoner was a member of the Fenian conspiracy they should give him the benefit of the doubt, but it should be real and substantial doubt, consistent with the evidence so far as they believed it. If, on the other hand, they had no doubt that the prisoner was in America acting as a member of the organisation, it was their duty to themselves and to their country, without regard to the consequences, to find him guilty.

A Juror—Did Mr. Anderson ever see Stephens write?

Mr. Anderson—I did at the police-office, Lower Castle-yard.

How long ago was it? About the end of October, 1865, or the beginning of November. The jury then retired, and after a few minutes' absence returned to court, and asked to have a portion of the evidence of Mr. Doyle read over. Their wishes having been complied with, they again retired, and in about half an hour brought in a verdict of guilty.

Baron Fitzgerald—As we have reserved a question in this case, we had better not pass sentence. The prisoner must remain in custody.

THE TRIAL OF O'LEARY.

Mr. O'Loghlen said it was the intention of a prisoner named O'Leary and some others to apply for the postponement of their trial. They were charged with the illegal possession of arms.

The Attorney-General said he had no objection to the postponement.

AN AMERICAN PRISONER.

Mr. O'Loghlen—There is an American in prison, and he will require a jury composed half of Americans.

The Attorney-General—I assent to the application.

CALLING JURORS ON FINES.

The jury asked to be discharged until Tuesday. Baron Hughes said he would not undertake to do that. The jurors would be called on fines on Monday morning.

A Juror said that the Jurors were mostly of opinion that the calling of their names on fines was a mere farce.

Baron Hughes—Jurors may believe that imposing fines, on my part, at least, is a farce. I will enforce the fines. I never in Dublin or in the country called a jury on fines that I was not determined to enforce them.

The Court then adjourned.

MONDAY.

The business of the commission was resumed at 11 o'clock this morning.

Edward O'Keefe, Edward M'Cahill, John MacCarthy, and Martin Cuddihy were placed at the bar, and informed by Baron Fitzgerald that the Attorney-General had consented to the application made in their behalf at the commencement of the commission, to have their trials postponed.

Mr. M'Meehan said he appeared for M'Cahill, who was now prepared to go, on with his trial.

The Attorney-General then applied for a postponement of the several cases until next commission, an application to which the Court assented.

ILLEGAL POSSESSION OF ARMS.

Richard Joseph Stowell was then put forward, and indicted for having in his possession, on the 18th December last, without the necessary licence, nine guns, nine bayonets, and a large number of rifle bullets.

At the prisoner's request the trial was not proceeded with for the present, in order to give him an opportunity of conferring with his attorney.

THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE

TUESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 19, 1867.

FUNERAL OF MICHAEL FURNELL, ESQ. D.L.

On this day the funeral of this venerable and lamented gentleman took place. On Monday evening the remains were brought down by rail and laid on a bier in St. Michael's parish church; and on this morning at ten o'clock the funeral procession commenced. The deceased having been a Freemason who had attained to the highest dignities of his order, and been Grand Master for North Munster, the members of the local lodges assembled to pay all the necessary honor to the remains of their departed brother.

At ten o'clock the coffin was borne from the church and placed in the hearse, and then the procession commenced. First walked in line the tenantry of the deceased, wearing white scarfs and hat bands; then came the hearse, drawn by four horses; after which followed in procession the brethren of the masonic order, wearing black scarfs and hat bands, and the insignia and badges denoting their several ranks, their scarfs tied with blue ribbon, except the Royal Arch Masons, who were distinguished by their scarfs tied by red ribbon, with rosetts of the same colour, and which were supplied from the establishment of Kearse and Co., under the personal management of Brother Thomas Adams, S.W. P.M., and taking into account the fact that instructions in the matter were not received by that firm until 8 p.m., on last evening, the arrangement reflects the highest credit on the establishment. The Brethren of No. 13 Lodge were headed by the Worshipful Master, R. Eaton, Esq., and William Barrington, Esq., the Secretary, and the brethren of 73 lodge were headed by the Worshipful Master W. H. M'Quaide, Esq., The other members who joined in the procession were Brothers R. Hunt, P.M. 13; J. W. Mahony, P.M. 13; James M'Mahon, P.M. 13; E. L. Hunt, P.M. 13; Captain Lloyd, P.M. 13; E. Lloyd, 13; R. R. Gelston, M.D., P.M. 13; R. P. Gelston, 13; J. S. Brown, P.M. 13; and S. G. P.R.C., Rev. W. F. Seymour, Chaplain, 13; Land, 13; Harding, 13; W. Hunt, 13; T. O'Brien, P.M. 13; Slade, 13; Lysaght, 13; W. J. Young, 13; E. Powell, 13; Michael Cantillon, 13; John Gleeson, 13; S.G.P.R.C.; Adams, P.M. S.W. 73; Trousdale, P.M. 73; Mullock, 73; W. Peacocke, P.M. 73; G. Fitzgerald, 73; G. Moore, P.M. 73; Morgan, P.M. 73; Bassett, P.M., and Secretary, 73; T. Glover, P.M. 73; Bernal, P.M., 73 and 202; Fife, P.M. 73; Ferguson, P.S.W. 73; M'Nay, P.M. 73; Dr. Carey, 73; Vaneesbeck, P.M. 73; Phayer, P.M. 73; Langley, P.M. 73; Laird, 73; Pim, (Dublin); J. C. Holland, 473; Pierce, 73; Goggin, Whitethorne.

Amongst those other gentlemen who attended the funeral, and walked for a considerable portion of the way in the procession were Colonel the Right Hon. W. Monsell, M.P., Sir Hugh Dillon Maesy, Bart., Henry Vereker, Richard Russell, J.P., Thompson Russell, J.P., J. B. Blennerhasset, Michael Hartigan, Alderman M'Donnell, J. Ryan, Solicitor, &c.

Then came two mourning carriages, and next that of Dr. Furnell, brother of deceased, and that of T. O'Brien, Esq., J.P., his brother-in-law; and they were followed by the carriages of the following gentlemen:—Colonel the Right Hon. W. Monsell, M.P., D.L.; Hon. Robert O'Brien, Old Church; Henry Maunsell, J.P.; R. Hunt, J.P.; R. Russell, J.P.; W. Johnston, J.P.; Thaddeus M'Donnell, J.P.; Rev. Joseph Gabbett, Alderman Mahony, his Worship the Mayor, Rev. Mr. Bennett, J. B. Blennerhasset, Archibald Murray, Portland; Thompson Russell, F. Kennedy, Michael R. Ryan, J.P.; James G. Barry, J.P.; Dr. Gelston, William G. Gubbins, J.P.; Samuel Caswell, J.P., Esqrs.; and also those of Mrs. Barry and Mrs. Purdon. There next came a long line of public vehicles that stretched over a considerable distance of ground, and which added to the great length of the procession, to give our readers an idea of which, the last vehicle had not passed through the Crescent, when the head of the line had reached the top of William-street. The route was from the Parish Church, through Barrington-street, the Crescent, up William-street, and through Mulgrave-street, on to Caherilly church yard, the burial place of the Furnell family.

Having reached the church yard, the coffin was borne on the shoulders of a number of the tenantry to the entrance of the vault in front of which it was laid on supports, when the burial service was read in a most impressive manner by the Rev. Mr. Bennett, and when he had concluded the Rev. Benjamin Jordan delivered a short, but touching funeral oration.

At the conclusion, the coffin was taken into the vault, where the brethren of the masonic order assembled, and the gates of the vault having been closed the usual masonic rites were performed, and then they bid a final adieu to all that was mortal of their venerable brother.

It is rather significant that Mr. Furnell, who was one of the oldest members of 73 Lodge, and took the greatest interest in its welfare, should have died at the age of 73 years, that number being recorded on the coffin breast plate.

An occurrence, involved in considerable mystery as been discovered at the New Barrack. It appears that early on Sunday morning a large opening was discovered at the base of the wall behind the soldiers quarters at the Collooney-street side of the barrack, about twelve feet wide, sufficient to admit the passing through of two or three men. The opening was made from the outside; and whether it was by the falling in of the wall, or that it was effected by Fenians with the view of gaining access to the barrack, we are unable to state, as the matter is veiled in so much mystery, and the military authorities are so uncommunicative, and keep everything taking place there from the public, that it is impossible to obtain anything in the way of reliable information, except the fact known throughout the city, that the breach is there to be seen. Between the barrack wall, the premises in Collooney-street is another wall shutting off the latter, leaving an area between both; and it would not be difficult for parties who knew the place to get over the outer wall into the area, and remove a number of the stores in the barrack wall, on a dark night without being seen, or the noise heard by the sentries whose stations are at a distance from where the breach has been made. Major-General Burton, accompanied by Captain Nagle, A.D.C., who arrived in town last night, was all day holding an inquiry into the discovery; and it being concluded he made an inspection of the entire barrack, and also of the Ordnance, Castle, and Militia barracks in the city.

Lord and Lady Clermont and suite are staying at Cruise's Hotel. General Burton and Captain Nagle, A.D.C., are Phillips, Mr. Gerald Blennerhasset, Miss W. Westropp, Mr. Stammers Gubbins, Mr. Robert Gabbett, Mr. Samuel Harding.

The Mayor and Lady Mayoress received invitations to the ball, but were unavoidably absent.

BRUFF (COUNTY LIMERICK) STEEPLE CHASES.

The above meeting will take place on Thursday, the 21st of March, when the handicap of 3 sovs. each, with 40 sovs. added—the hunt stakes of 40 sovs. clear, and the selling stakes of 2 sovs. each, with 20 sovs. added, will be run for. Articles and all information can be obtained of the hon. secretary, J. Williamson, Esq., Bruff.

Last week a private in the 74th regiment named Howby, who had been sentenced by a district court-martial to 12 months' imprisonment and 50 lashes for some disgraceful offence. Brigadier-General M'Murdo, in command at Cork, remitted the flogging, reduced the imprisonment to a term of six months, and ordered the man to be drummed out of the regiment, which was done last week.

We understand that a man named John Heffernan was killed at the dock yesterday by falling into the hold of a corn ship.

We have been requested by the Rev. Dr. O'Connor, P.P., of Ardagh, to contradict the report that appeared in our last publication, to the effect that his house had been attacked, his windows broken, and that a party of military had proceeded to his residence to afford protection. No such occurrence, he says took place, and he adds that the locality is in a very peaceable state since the removal of the Constabulary. Our correspondents must have been misinformed or were mistaken about a drunken occurrence by a man who had been taken home in a delirious state on Thursday, and was so infuriated from the effects of drink that he smashed the windows of his own house, as well as several houses in the village, and of the school house; but the rev. gentleman states that there was nothing connected with Fenianism in the outrage, which was merely committed by a man in delirium tremens.

The ladies of the clothing society of St. Vincent De Paul, beg to acknowledge with thanks the following donations—The High Sheriff, £1; Mrs. O'Callaghan, Cratloe, £1; Denis Ryan, Esq., Broadstreet, £1.

The Rev. Denis O'Brien, P.P., returns his sincere thanks to the Right Hon. Judge Fitzgerald, for his generous contribution of £10, towards the building of schools at Ahalin, near Knockaderry, and also a grant of one rood of land, together with the use of a quarry for the building; he also feels sincere pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of £5 from Edw. O'Brien, Esq., Cahernoyle, for the same purpose.

The Rev. James O'Shea gratefully acknowledges £10 from the Right Worshipful the Mayor of Limerick for the Roman Catholic Chapel of Rathkeale, per the Right Rev. Dr. Butler.

CITY POLICE COURT—THIS DAY.

Before Robert Rodger, Esq., Chairman; Alderman Tinsley and Oliver Moriarty, Esq., R.M. Peter H. Maguire, private in the 74th Regiment, was charged with the larceny of a flannel shirt from the shop of Miss Anne Ryan, Patrick-street.

The prosecutrix, on being questioned, stated that the prisoner walked into her shop, took the shirt, and walked towards the door. She asked him for the article, as did a gentleman who happened to enter, when he refused, but desired her to send for the police, or the watchman, and that he would remain there till they came. She sent for a watchman, and gave the prisoner in charge. He stated to her that he was anxious to get out of the Regiment, and that he took the garment for the purpose of being convicted or transported.

The accused in answer to the charge pleaded guilty, and he was sentenced to a month's imprisonment.

The prisoner had an exceedingly dejected appearance, and on being informed that he would have to return to his Regiment on the expiration of his sentence he trembled considerably.

Patrick Barry was brought up for committing an assault on a watchman, and he was sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment.

CLARE INTELLIGENCE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Ennis, Monday Evening.

CLARE GRAND JURY.

To-day the Grand Jury sat at the usual hour, when the fiscal business was proceeded with. Most of the presentments were of a mere routine character.

Mr. Thomas Rice Henn, D.L., said in reference to a road, for the stopping up of which a presentment had been obtained at road sessions, that as a grand juror he claimed the protection of the jury, who, he trusted, would not allow his property to be cut up by permitting an old, useless, and unfrequented road, running through his demesne, which only entailed a round of considerable distance on the one or two persons who used to travel on it, on their way to Ballinacally or Killadysart, and which appeared to him only useful for the purposes of the ruffians who had some time ago broken his window, by affording them facilities of attack and escape. There were only one or two persons who lived on Deer Island who could pretend to its being of the slightest use, and one of these always went out of his way to continue the annoyance to him (Mr. Henn) and his family, and had within sight of his window appeared in a state of nudity, swimming in his boat, with his clothes on his head. Lord Leonfield's tenantry were concerned in
