DEATHS.

On the 13th inst., at his residence, Upper Cecil-street, after a protracted illness, Frederick W. Kennedy, Esq. His earthly career thus closed while he was yet in the prime of life, and in the enjoyment of much worldly prosperity. He was a most loving husband, a tender and affectionate father, and an exemplification of all the domestic virtues. In the transactions of a very extensive business, he was strictly upright, lenient, and considerate; in his friendships, sincere and unchangeable; and, in his manners, bland and courteous.— He leaves a deeply sorrowing and most amiable wife, with six children (the eldest of whom is not more than 11 years of age), under the good providence of the Father of the fatherless and the friend of the widow, while the sympathies and prayers of many sincere friends will, it is hoped, help to alleviate the peignancy of this sad bereavement. It is written, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord. Yea, said the Spirit, for they rest from their labours, and their works do follow them."

On the 21st of September, at New Orleans, very much regretted, John Grogan, aged 20 years, second son of James Grogan, Esq., P.L.G., of Kiltanen, Knockaderry, county Limerick.
