The report of the directors of the Great Southern and Western Railway for the six months ended 31st December last—while showing a considerable decrease in the passenger traffic, caused by the unfavourable weather, and the circumstance that, in the corresponding half of the preceding year, the International Exhibition was open,—exhibits a gratifying increase in the cattle and goods departments. The total traffic receipts show a net increase of upwards of four thousand pounds. It recommends a dividend of 4½ per cent.

The directors of the Londonderry and Enniskillen Railway Company, in their report for the past six months, after stating the receipts for that period, and announcing a dividend on the preference shares, state that they have found it impossible to re-issue the debentures which fell due on the 10th ult. The state of the country, and the misconduct of some of the English railway companies, are assigned as the reason why these debentures could not be re-issued "on any terms which reasonable men could entertain."

A few minutes after seven o'clock at Athlone. On Saturday, at Malahide, Dr. Davys, coro held an inquest on the body of a man who was fo early in the morning lying on the limekiln at Fel and burned in so frightful a manner that not of him remained but a mass of charred flesh. F the evidence it would appear that deceased, who not identified, came by his death by inhaling noxi gas, which was generated in the kiln, on which sat, most probably, to rest himself.

On Saturday the three Colonial Bishops were c secrated in Canterbury Cathedral—The Rev. Millman to the Bishopric of Calcutta; the Rev. C. Sawyer to that of Grafton and Armadale; and Rev. C. R. It was last week announced that 500 of the cler men, magistrates, yeomen, gentlemen, and other the diocese of Salisbury resident in Dorsetshire presented a "protest" to their right rev. prel against what they considered his lordship's "ritu tic tendencies." The bishop has since forwarded following reply to the "protest":—"I have ceived to-day your letter and the protest, which c tained, you say, 'about or more than 500 signat from magistrates, clergy, yeomen, and tradespe from Poole, Lyme, Sherborne, Wimborne, Bridp and Blandford.' I am much concerned to find t 16 of my clergy in Dorset do not believe that power to absolve penitents in the name of the L has been entrusted to them. Of course the teach which such a disavowal implies must have had its fluence with some of the laity; but still I am prised to find that so many of them protest that ministration has not been committed by our Lorc His Church, and so contradict, as it seems to me, plain and historical teaching of the Church of E land. The circumstances under which I wrote letter to which the protest refers (to 'S. G.') did not lead me to make any statement about limitations which our Church has imposed on exercise of this power, but I shall, Deo volente, h at no distant time of opportunity of doing so publ and I may possibly then think it desirable to a myself of it.

A remarkable case, which is said to have arisen of the laconic will of the late Sergeant Storks, is r being argued in the Court of Queen's B London. The action is brought by Catherine Kea the confidential servant of the late Sergeant, aga Robert Reeves Storks, one of his sons, to wt nearly the whole of his property devolved under curious will. Catherine Kearns was placed by Robert Storks in a French lunatic asylum on the of June last (a period prior to the Sergeant's dea for the purpose, as she alleged, of preventing alteration being made in the same will. She r brings an action for false imprisonment. As Henry Storks, the late Governor of Malta, and chief of the Jamaica Commission, may be considered one of the interested parties, the case is attractin great deal of curiosity.
