DUBLIN MARKETS.
 The Corn Exchange.
 To-day there was a little more confidence, and show of native wheat better. More inclination to purchase barley, at last prices. Medium white oats 17s. Black a shade dearer. Other kinds of malting grain stationary. The demand for foreign wheat was better. A fair business done in maize. The demand for flour is only for immediate purposes. No change in price.

DUBLIN CORN MARKET.
 (Green, Brothers' Report.)
 Attendance small. Wheat, all sorts very slow sales at prices favouring buyers. Oats free sale at last day's rates. Barley matting fully as dear. Grinding, slow sale at 3d to 6d per barrel decline. Maize held for late rates, but nothing doing.

DUBLIN CATTLE MARKET.
 (L. Cuffe & Sons Report.)
 5, Smithfield, Dublin, Nov. 12, 1868.

We have to report an increase in the number of beasts at market. Prime qualities continue scarce and in demand, fully supporting previous prices. Secondary and inferior sorts dull, and sellers, in order to effect sales, were obliged to submit to a concession.—At our corn exchange during the week we had no alteration. Good samples of oats and barley in demand, at previous rates. Wool steady, at from 16d to 18d per lb.
