"Glengmount,

June 8, 1869.

"SIRS,—In reply to yours of the 17th inst. I beg to say I worked only one day, as yet, in the crop of Rye-grass, lodged and tossed about by the wind. The horses thought nothing of the draught, and never seen better work. I consider it the best machine, and one that I think you may recommend to your best customers.

"Faithfully yours,
"JOHN H. PERRETT."

The American yacht Dauntless, of 100 tons, commanded by James G. Bennett, jun., arrived at Queenstown on Sunday, at 2 30 p.m., making the passage from New York to Queenstown in 12 days, 17 hours, and 2 seconds, and beating the time of the previous famous ocean race with the Fleece. The Dauntless experienced heavy weather during the voyage.
