

addressed by the town of Oziere, in Sarunia. In the address of thanks which he has sent to the electors and which is dated Caprera, December 24, he says he and his friends, although Republicans, accepted the Monarchy in good faith, and only asked that it should ameliorate the condition of the people, and maintain its dignity towards the powerful and the "vampire" by which Italy has been for ages oppressed. Garibaldi denies that the Government of Italy can do anything but commit exactious, squander the substances of the people, and become the agent of a foreign Power.

TURKEY AND GREECE.

The Levant Herald says the Porte has modified the order for the expulsion of Greeks. The Hellenes are to remain, but former Ottomans who are now Greeks must resume their allegiance or leave.

THE CONFERENCE.

Paris Monday Evening.
 The "Moniteur" says the programme of the Conference is so strictly limited to the five points of the Turkish ultimatum, that the Ottoman plenipotentiary has orders to retire immediately if any other subject shall be brought under discussion.

The "Debate" has the following:—"The journals officially asserted yesterday in the most positive manner that the initiative of the project for a Conference came from Berlin. The Russian journals continue to contribute the honour of that act to the Cabinet of St. Petersburg. They want to have the Muscovite empire always appear to the eyes of the Christian population of the East as the only power interested in their condition, or which undertakes usefully and efficaciously to ameliorate. There is nothing very new in the proceedings. What is more important to notice is, that the Russian press is at this moment making the most gracious advances to France, against whom it was most bitter not long since. According to the "Moscow Gazette" there will be seen at the conference at Paris on one side Russia, France, Prussia, and Italy, while England will be left alone with Austria to sustain the complaints of the Porte. The "Journal de St Petersburg" also tries to represent the French Government as more or less converted to the Prussian policy in the East. It founds its opinion, more especially, on what lately appeared in the "Etendard," and it will doubtless not fail to add that the articles in question have so much the greater importance that a few days before they were published the Administration had given that journal a new mark of favour in designating it to receive the judicial advertisements of the department of the Seine. The Russian organ terminates by urging Turkey to withdraw her ultimatum in the interest of her own dignity. Doubts may be entertained as to whether the Porte will hasten to adopt that friendly advice.
