S

At the court-martial on the survivor of the HMS "Hood", Captain, on Thursday, Sir Alexander Milne, who was present that the day before the catastrophe happened, and expressed surprise at the vessel, and expressed surprise at the so shortly braced up. Sir John Burgoyne thought it better to lower the topsail during a squall. (Sir A. Milne) been in command, he lowered the topsail during a squall. a master shipwright at Portsmouth thought the Captain was overmasted, like a regular sailing ship,
