REMMARKABLE ACCIDENTS IN THE MERSEY. —On Friday an accident of a singular character occurred in the Mersey. The brigantine, Mary Ellen, out-ward bound from Liverpool to Portsmouth, foundered off the West Hoyle Bank, and the crew, after being several hours in the rigging, were very fortunately rescued by the Point of Ayr life boat. About half-past ten the Woodside luggage boat, having on board, amongst other things, two carts having on board, amongst other things, two carts, laden mith furniture, and two horses, started for Liverpool, and when about midway across the Mersey, the rough seas caused the steamer to roll a good deal, the result being that one of the carts broke loose from its fastenings, and was driven close to the bulwarks of the boat, causing a very considerable cant over, which at one time appeared very serious indeed. The two horses, which had been taken out of the shafts became frightened. considerable cant over, which at one and approved very serious indeed. The two horses, which had been taken out of the shafts, became frightened, rushed to the side of the vessel, and eventually got tossed overboard. Endeavours were promptly made to rescue the animals, but they had proved the state of the same animals, but they had proved the same animals were quickly swent away by futile, as both animals were quickly swept away by the tide.

In Dunkeld Cathedral a monument has been erected to the memory of the officers and private soldiers of the 42nd Regiment who fell in war from the creation of the regiment to the close of the Indian mutiny.
