DAY IN THE NORTH.—Lurgan, Friday.—A number of police arrived this evening for to-morrow (Lady-Day.) There are 100 county Mayo, under Sub-Inspectors Mur-White. There are come at the same time nearly 100 men from the county Roscom-gher, and Strokestown. I understand they are expected at a late hour this evening.

Friday.—In anticipation of riotous pro-ceedings to-morrow—Lady Day—the authori-ties had drafted in to-day a troop of Dragoons extra force of constabulary, who are all about the central part of the city. It has been known for several days past that a set off to a large procession, held here on the twelfth by the Roman Catholics are making great efforts to organise a procession through the leading streets to-morrow, headed by bands and a large party feeling runs so high in the district that the local magistrate—resident—deemed it prudent for the preservation of the peace to have a military support to-day placed under his command.
