taken out of the river near the docks. An inquest will be held. A reward of £5 for the recovery of the body had been offered by the friends of the deceased.

On yesterday a meeting of the city magistrates was held in the City Court-house with reference to the office of Petty-sessions' Clerk, arising, it is stated, out of a communication received by the resident magistrate on the subject. The proceedings were private, but it appears that the result of them were that Mr. Hall resigned the situation, being allowed a superannuation on retirement. There are a number of candidates seeking the office, and the following, we understand, are canvassing :—Mr. Hardiman, Deputy Clerk of the Peace for the County ; Mr. M. DeCourcy, City Coroner ; Mr. J. Bourke, Deputy Clerk of Petty-sessions, and Mr. Cornelius Fitzgerald.

We have to acknowledge the receipt of copies of the Parliamentary Bills "County Boards Ireland (No. 2), a Bill to establish elective county boards in Ireland," and "Local Government (Ireland), a Bill to reform and assimilate the system of local self-government in force in certain cities and towns in Ireland," from Messrs. Butt, M.P., and O'Shaughnessy, M.P.

It is stated that Mr. Serjeant Armstrong has been engaged specially as leading counsel for the Crown in the prosecution against Mary M'Mahon to be tried at Cork Assizes for the murder of Ellen Sexton.

MELANCHOLY DEATH,

On yesterday Mr. Coroner De Courcey held an inquest at John's Square concerning the death of a man named Darby Clancey, aged 50, who had been employed at the Messrs. Mattersons' provision stores. It would appear from the evidence that the deceased, who was a widower, was seen going home on Saturday night, at about half-past 11 o'clock, and when he arrived at his residence his son, a boy of about 14 years of age, met him, but the father prevailed on him to go to bed. So the boy left the father who was very much under the influence of drink, sitting down, and he placed a candle on a form close by. He saw a bottle of whiskey in his pocket. Next morning the boy awoke with a suffocating feeling, and when he arose from bed he found his father lying on the ground. He immediately called the neighbours and the police were sent for, and a Constable saw the deceased lying on the ground, and the form upturned, and his stomach and legs were very much burned, from the effects of which it was presumed he died. It is supposed that the unfortunate man fell, and knocking the candle which had been on the form, his clothes ignited, and his death was the result. The jury returned a verdict that the deceased came by his death from accidental burning.
