Kilrush, Thursday.

L ACCIDENT.—A melancholy accident, which is fatal, has just been reported from Clohanet. It appears that on Sunday last a number of men were stone-throwing in that locality for sport, when a man named Griffin happened to cast the stone and, through some mishap, a young man named Keleher on the head of him prostrate. The skull was fractured. Aid was immediately procured, but though receiving some relief at the time, Keleher lingered all evening, when he succumbed. Griffin was arrested and will be brought up at the Petty Sessions at Miltown.

BUTT TESTIMONIAL.—Dr. Dinan, P.P., V.G., called a public meeting of the inhabitants last evening in the vestry of the Roman Catholic church, to consider what steps should be taken to present Mr. Butt with a suitable testimonial. The following is a summary of the circular convening the meeting:—“It behoves us all to sustain a great leader who has sacrificed his splendid profession for the public good, and through whose instrumentality, aided by the able and faithful representatives in Parliament, we hope to see the great questions of Tenant Right, Denominational Education, and Home Rule will be brought to a successful issue.” On the motion of Dr. Foley, seconded by Mr. Edmund Kenny, solicitor, Dr. Dinan, V.G., was moved to the chair. The Chair said that in this movement he had the co-operation of the people of all denominations, as evinced by the present meeting. Mr. Butt expressed their gratitude. He had been dejected that the movement which was obstructed by the death of Mr. Butt was the Liberator's successor in both religious and political causes, both in England as well as for Ireland (applause). It was added that Mr. Butt was a Protestant, but that had that to do with their cause. A Protestant can be as true and sincere for his country as a Catholic, and could be so for the cause of reform. They all knew that a Protestant before Mr. Butt had secured great results. Did they not know that Mr. Butt was a Protestant, and didn't he secure his country? There was poor Emmet; was not a Protestant, and didn't he give the last drop of his blood for his country (hear, hear, and applause). It was approaching fanaticism to separate Protestant and Catholic from platform and pulpit; it was by the unity of both the Irish people that they would get their rights (hear, hear). It is not for any person, to stand up and say—“let us separate Protestants from Catholics.” This is approaching madness, and though he (the chair) did not, in the least, pretend to prophecy he would tell the meeting that any such attempts would ruin their country, cause, and religion—(hear, hear, and applause). Let Protestants and Catholics live together, as they had done—let them not be led away by any foolery—let them assist each other, and by this means they would realize their expectations, and be serving the best interests of their country. Mr. Butt was
