

and betrays all its latent beauties and What a difference in every rank of life between the educated and uneducated former may be a monied man—he may “buy in” for money, or amassed money means or foul, but if he be an uneducated he will soon detect the bumpkin amid all the wish only that he had been young enough to go to that newly built National School on the arid mountain. But onwards! Having reached the summit, the road makes a sharp turn to the left, and thence there is a considerable descent to the little village of Athea. As I descended literally, into the village, I said to myself that the engineers of former days must have had notions of road-making. They seem to have reasoned and operated in straight lines—down the mountain—quite regardless of ease or difficulty. Athea is a pretty little spot—a little gem, nestled amid the hills, with a pretty river winding round it and onwards to the sea. Let me walk through a village, or town, or country, and I’ll tell you whether the owner of the place is a good landlord or not. The good and considerate landlord will have on his estate neat cottages, a time-keeper, and well-cultivated fields. He will have happy looking and bright rosy-faced children; whereas, the estate of the absentee landlord, or beneath the influence of the unfeeling agent, penny, filth, and nakedness everywhere abound. It is impossible to speak of the humanity and liberality of a considerable dignitary, whose tenantry live in misery and Athea. I shall only say that it is a rare thing to see a man who is not many like him. Passing round the mountain ridge, we drove on through miles of a flat country, until we approached Listowel, where the white steeple could be seen to the left, and the tower to the skies. I never saw so much turf, gathered together, in all my life, as on the mountain side near Listowel. Fancy ricks or clamps of turf—some of them fifty yards long—some of them high, and two yards wide—stretching for miles on right and left for miles! Were it not for the tenth commandment, would we not have been hedged for one of these mountains of peat for ever! But there are the telegraph posts on the mountain side. We turn sharply to the right, and the brave little horse free rein, run straight to our destination. Soon it looms in view. The station is situated on an eminence. There is a fine view of the imperium in imperio in Ballybunion—for the station is called “the village,” whilst the cottages and lodges on the cliffs are called “the village.” And I must say that village and station are very clean, orderly and interesting. We had a clear run of thirty Irish miles from Listowel and I was rather agreeably surprised to see the horse dash up to our seaside lodge, after a most unrelaxing run, without having “turned a hair.” The village was full of people, some about, chatting, smoking, buying awfully cheaply, or returning from an afternoon walk. My first visit to Ballybunion, and I grasped my umbrella, and did both Murphy, of Cork, to Georgina, youngest daughter of W. W. Carleton, late of Woodside, co. Cork.

 Ormsby and Farmer—Sept. 12, at Mallow Church, John Becher Ormsby, Esq., Captain Royal Artillery, to Fanny Louisa, only daughter of the late Edward Farmer, Esq., West-end, Mallow.
 Dwyer and Heffernan—Sept. 12, at the Catholic Church, West-end-row, James Dwyer, Esq., Townsend-street, Dublin, to Maggie Josephine, daughter of the late Michael Heffernan, Esq., Ballyduagh House, Cashel, co. Tipperary.
 Macilwraith and Melvin—Sept. 13, at 17, Greyfriar's-street, Elgin, by the Rev. P. J. Mackie, William Macilwraith, eldest son of David Macilwraith, Esq., Rockcavage, Cork, to Mary Eliza, only daughter of George Melven, Esq., Architect, Elgin.
 Tabor and Creaghe—Aug. 19, at St. Paul's Church, Malta, by the Rev. W. Odell, Military Chaplain, Francis Hope Tabor, Lieutenant R.N., second son of the Rev. R. S. Tabor, of Cheam, Surrey, to Mary Sadleir, youngest daughter of the late Stephen Creaghe, Esq., of Dublin, and granddaughter of the late Richard Creaghe, Esq., of Castlepark, co. Tipperary.
 Fludyer and Borough—Sept. 9, in the parish church of Hewth, near Dublin, Arthur Fludyer, Esq., second son of Sir Henry Fludyer, Bart., of Ayston Hall, county of Rutland, to Augusta, third daughter of Sir Edward Borough, Bart.

DEATHS.

Bannatyne—This morning, at Woodstown, James Matthew, eldest son of Alexander Bannatyne, aged 21 years.
 Blackall—Sept. 14, at Gardenhill House, Castleconnell, Marcella, the dearly-beloved daughter of Jonas Blackall, Esq., Solicitor, Limerick.
 Bayly—At Rotana, New Zealand, of inflammation of the lungs, Thomas, eldest son of Richard Bayly, Esq., J.P., Green Park, Bruff.
 Lowe—At her residence, The Crofts, Miss M. Manley Lowe, daughter of the late S. Lowe, Esq., The Abbey, Staffordshire, and Whitehall, Salop, and sister of Canon Lowe, of Ely Cathedral.
 Seaton—Sept. 11, at the house of Major Massey, Chatou, Paris, Major-General Sir Thomas Seaton, K.C.B., of Ackworth House, East Bergholt, Suffolk, and Dinard, France, aged 70, deeply regretted.
 Forbes—Sept. 11, at 22, Park-street, Bath, Emily Maria, eldest daughter of Major Forbes, late 77th Regt., aged 17 years.
 Neligan—Sept. 13, at 4, Elgin road, Dublin, Mathew Wilder (Tony), third son of Rev. Maurice Neligan, D.D., in his 16th year.
 Eberle—Sept. 13, at 6, Charlemont-place, Dublin, the Rev. Jacob Amandus Eberle, pastor of the Moravian Church, in his 60th year.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

Mr. James Teskey, Rose Cottage, very gratefully acknowledges the sum of five guineas from the Right Hon. the Earl of Dunraven, his annual subscription, for the support of the Wesleyan Methodist ministry in Adare. Also, 10s. from Gamaliel Fitzgerald, Esq., Limerick. The Secretary of Barrington's Hospital thankfully acknowledges £3 2s. from Messrs. McPhail & Co., of Glasgow.

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE—YESTERDAY.

GOVERNMENT FUNDS.
New Three per Cent. Stock	94½
FOREIGN AND COLONIAL FUNDS.
Portuguese 3 p. c.,	53
Russian (1870), 5 p. c.,	96
Russian (1871), 5 p. c.,	90½
Russian (1872) 5 p. c. acct	92½
United States 5.20 (1867), 6 per cent.,	109
Do. for account	109½
AMERICAN RAILWAY BONDS.
Pennsylvania Con. Sink. Fund. Mer.	102½
Philadelphia and Reading, Gl. Mer.	88½
Virginia—New Funded	63½