

class more especially the low being formed, should l. Every victory of the ry successful raid upon ent triumphed over, is a ay take years to counter-fence Association has, in most formidable barrier ue has had to contend. t be strengthened, and g in its usefulness; and ially applicable to boy-A still more formidable en must be also provided, t's notice be thrown, with n any given district. A aracter would soon teach eir moonlighting and boy- t the Imperial race can en it is necessary to do so, phant blows as ever it has e are pleased to perceive rotection Association has and, one of the purposes of a special fund for the pro-o have suffered, and are e districts, through this h is now so wide-spread in and so disastrous in its Brien, R.N., has arrived at England.

ison and party have arrived, George-street from Kilkee.

, Mrs Kennedy, and family eir residence, George-street, to state that there will not St. Michael's Church to-

of the Town Council will be ll, on Thursday next, when a on the subject of the Gas gave publication in our issue ll be considered.

THE MURDER AT PALLASKENRY.

From further particulars obtained as to the brutal occurrence at Pallaskenry, which resulted in the death of a labourer named Michael Farrell at that place on Saturday morning, it appears that a deliberate murder was committed by James Conway, the other labourer who gave Farrell his death blow. From the following circumstances the only reason for the crime can be found. Conway, who is a native of Kerry, and Farrell, who belongs to Pallaskenry, had some angry words in the street on Monday the 21st, and Farrell caught hold of Conway and brought him to the police barrack saying that he was drunk. The constabulary treated the occurrence as an ordinary drunken brawl, and Sergeant Linnane issued a summons for drunkenness against Conway, which was served upon him on Wednesday last. As Farrell was returning from his work on the evening of that day, between 6 and 7 o'clock, he was met by Conway in the street. The latter, without speaking, struck the deceased such a violent blow on the head with a shovel he carried that Farrell dropped at once to his knees, and the handle of the implement was cracked by the force of the blow. Conway immediately followed this stroke with another of equal violence, which felled the victim of his brutality to the earth, bleeding and perfectly insensible. A little son of the deceased's, who was powerless to interfere, ran shrieking to the police barrack, and several constables hastened to the scene of the assault. Farrell was quickly conveyed home and his assailant arrested. The deceased, who suffered from the worst form of contusion of the brain, did not speak after the assault, and died at 7.30 on Saturday morning, an inquest touching his death being held at 12 o'clock that day before Mr John Sheehy, coroner. The evidence of the son of the deceased agreed in the main points with the description given above of the assault. From the evidence of the police it transpired that Conway and Farrell had had drunken quarrels previous to that on Monday, the 21st. Medical testimony having been given, the jury agreed to the following verdict:—"That Michael Farrell, of Pallaskenry, in the county of Limerick, died from contusion and compression of the brain, on the 26th September, 1885. We find that said compression was produced by being struck on the head with a shovel on the 23rd Sept, 1885, at Pallaskenry, in said county by one James Conway, of Pallaskenry, who is now in Limerick County Gaol, charged with the offence and we commend to the Inspector-General the conduct of the constabulary on the prompt arrest of the accused."

CITY POLICE COURT.

(Before J. B. I.)

Several persons were summoned to pay various sums due for being conducted by Mr W Gas Manager.

The cases being proved were given for the amount

AN ATHLETE IN

Head-constable Rowe as for a short time of the c Noonan, a notorious athlete forger. The principal O'Connor, Manager of t Newcastle West, and he rick until 1.30. The prisoner's name for application the Waterford and Lime men—one on the 5th inst Ennis, for a person nam the 10th instant for a free a porter of the Nationa tions were supposed to b nor, and were delivered McCarthy to Mr Robert the 5th inst, and to Mr G Manager, on the 16th ins Noonan got a free pass o turned not used, but he'd the second occasion. M prisoner of writing it and Ludlow and gave him the Sergeant met the man N the letter from Mr O'Con Hotel and offered to go t policeman. When he got tried to run away but Rathkeale.

Mr Irwin—I suppose intention of defrauding t Mr Glynn, Assistant Railway said he attende Mr Irwin—Who prosec Head Constable Rowe by District-Inspector J prosecute.

The hearing of the ca o'clock.

At that hour Noonan the William-street bar Irwin and Mr M. Lenih

Mr Irwin said he loo fraud upon the railway

Mr Glynn said he si request of the police to g

Mr Irwin—Is the ra ing?

Head-Constable Rowe that is prosecuting.

Mr Irwin—How is it