

ther, and who have about the spect for Captain O'SHEA as The Freeman's Journal, how- command from headquarters, the latest rejoinder, dating of Commons," point blank reply to be inserted in its from Galway. Why Captain permitted to have the last "incorruptible LYNCH" has ty in reply to his latest com- for the outer public to more Mr. LYNCH is charged with neophytes who aspire to the his deluded fellow-country- LYNCH dares not throw back He is represented, in spite of assertions, that he never made is gallant correspondent for ed in getting my friend the eeking," and yet he must not fact. It is inferred that the Captain O'SHEA's authority, follows as ever led a forlorn good day's work when they CH out of the Brotherhood"; carded brother is precluded owldging or denying in the t he ever had been a Fenian. s an end to Billingsgate, and O'SHEA has scored a double his antagonist, inasmuch as he ived him of his seat, but has in extinguishing him after one feels inclined to ask what ur in case of a dissolution of seems rather an unlucky mo- out with one's constituents, r going to the trouble of being ndly and generous with them. e-making Mr. PARNELL once warring elements to obey his t, at the forthcoming elections, prove as unendurable to the tribes as he undoubtedly had f to the electors of Clare?

the moonlight dictation, the words of an oath that he would give up the farm at the very earliest and first opportunity of getting one else- where. The Moonlighters, satisfied with this promise, fired two shots outside the house, and then left.

THE LATE PROFESSOR APJOHN.

The Irish Times of this morning contains the announcement of the death of the well-known Professor Apjohn, F.R.S., at his residence, South Hill, Blackrock, at the ripe and honoured age of 91 years, having been born in 1794, in the parish of Grean, County Limerick, at Sunville, the property of his paternal ancestors. He was educated at the Diocesan School, Tipperary, from which he entered T.C.D. in 1814, where he distinguished himself during his undergraduate course, amongst other honors obtaining a scholarship in 1816. He took his M.B. in 1821, but all his tastes and sympathies were with the experimental sciences, and in 1825 he was appointed lecturer in chemistry to the Medical School, Park-street, which school he actively co-operated in establishing in conjunction with Sir Henry Marsh, Dr Graves, Dr Jacob, and Mr Cusack. Dr Apjohn's reputation as an accomplished chemist was speedily established, so that in 1828 he was elected to the professorship of chemistry in the Royal College of Surgeons, Ireland, where his celebrity as a lecturer attracted students from all parts of the United Kingdom. In 1841 he was appointed by the Board of Trinity College, Dublin, lecturer on applied chemistry, and in 1850, the Chair of Chemistry in the University becoming vacant, he was unanimously elected to fill it, the Professorship of Mineralogy being subsequently added. As a chemist, practical and theoretic, Dr Apjohn has long held a foremost place, his reputation extending beyond his native land to the physicists of Great Britain and the Continent. In 1837 he obtained from the Royal Irish Academy the Cunningham Gold Medal for an essay on "A new method of investigating the gaseous bodies." In 1874 he resigned the University professorship, and subsequently the post of representative of T.C.D. on the Medical Council. A few years later he retired from all professional occupation. As years went on his well-known face was but seldom seen, except by those who visited him in his own home, though he continued to enjoy uninterrupted good health till within a few weeks before his death, up to which time it may be said of him "his eye was not dim, nor his natural force abated," though he had long outlived the years allotted to man. With him has passed away one of the most upright and honourable of men, whose noble intellect for nearly a century shed lustre on the country of his birth.

LIMERICK DIOCESAN BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The examination of the Trinity Church Sunday School was continued on Tuesday. The classes examined were the 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th claim upon them. I that Board a refuge for thing else.

Mr Pegum, in the co the secretary, made a the latter the statemen vassing for the place.

Mr Hall said there v four on the subject, or County of Limerick, wl signed himself a J.P.

The Secretary replie unseemly.

Mr Pegum proposed Knight of Glin's propo appointment of the In day month.

A Member—What! over.

Mr Hall remarked th board that Mr Putland of the bailiffs fit to tak greater proof of the jo

After some further Mr Hall said he wou tive to the original pr

As this promised to Hall agreed, with the to withdraw his neg the proposition was t taken down as dissent

This was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT

Mr Hall's notice of accountant be appoin meeting.

That gentleman th be appointed to audit and furnish more deta tice hitherto.

Mr Place was auditor checked the abstract of them befo be more satisfactory.

The same gentlama secretary as to the e penses of the board's the bailiffs; the secr were all entered in t

Mr Hall pointed o Mr Place proposed w

Mr Place replied value for it. The or would have no pow was the great functio

The Knight of Glin four times a year w member of the boa quietly whenever he

Mr Pegum pointec counts would only be

The Secretary hac make. He had inva count, showing every board ever objected he had always begge accounts. Mr Hal one to suppose that been doing his duty for more details th

NDENTS.—The letter of "An male" according to an impera