

familiar with the greater numbers. The organised attempts were orderly, and bring his neck to the heel of the despots around him and his family, and it was almost impossible to obtain the wilful destruction of his property—all point to the fact that he was selected by the "National" to demonstrate its potency in the disorder of others who might be likely to its unwritten laws. Closer to us were the toils daily tightened and victory seemed to be at hand. Rescue came at length, however, was a greater blow inflicted on the League than the raising of the town. The dying efforts of the put forth at the Presentment at the Spring Assizes, with a view to satisfaction being given for the 180 tons of hay, which were consumed on the night of the 1st of October. Stories, the most villainous of the kind to the effect that the conflagration was actually planned by Mr. Conners, and that she had bargained with him, named CONNORS, to have the property destroyed. If a dwelling-house were to be destroyed it is quite possible the aid of the police might be called in to facilitate the commission of the crime. But it is absurd to suppose that an inflammable oil upon a materially inflammable; and it is also to suppose that any external aid would be given. Miss ROSE D'ARCY meant to burn the hay, the application of a single match being all that was requisite. No considerations before them, and the intelligent evidence of Miss D'ARCY, it should be remembered, had not been taken at the Presentment Sessions, she had no other alternative than to burn the hay, which it is satisfactory to period. A discount of two and a half per cent is to be given in the event of each quarter being paid before the expiration of the next following one, as pointed out in the advertisement. This action on the part of the gas committee has been in accordance with a promise recently made to the Corporation, and, it need hardly be said, will be received with the greatest satisfaction by the consumers in the city.

This morning the body of a man named Edmund Bourke was found in a trench at the Island, close to the entrance gate near Thomond Bridge. The deceased, who once was in well-to-do circumstances, and belonged to the farming class, was last evening discharged from the Workhouse where he remained from time to time, and it is presumed that while under the influence of drink, or perhaps while in an exhausted state, he fell into the trench, and died from exposure. The drain is not very deep, a portion of the body being only found in the water. Ten pence were found in the deceased's clothes on being searched. The body has been removed to the morgue pending the holding of a coroners inquest.

Mr R. B. Silles, J.P., was the presiding magistrate at the last Kilkee Petty Sessions. Dr Griffin, J.P.; Mr Benjamin Cox, J.P., and the District Resident Magistrate, were also in attendance. A young man named Hastings, the son of a vegetable dealer, was fined by the police, at the prosecution of a servant girl named Barrett, two pounds, or in default of payment, one month's imprisonment, for throwing her down on the street about 8 o'clock on Saturday night, when she was out on a message for her employer, Mr Enright, of Queen street. Mr Thomas Kelly, solicitor, Kilrush, defended the prisoner. A second young man named Haugh, a private of the Clare Militia, who some twelve months ago went to America, and thereby absented himself from the annual training of his corps, was fined ten shillings for absenting himself.

The Army and Navy Gazette says:—The appointments in succession to Lord Clarina, who vacates the Dublin command on April 1 next, are a little curious in some respects. Briefly, then, the changes are:—Lord Clarina, promoted Lieutenant-General, has to give up Dublin District; Major-General Young, from Cork, relieves him; Major-General Stevenson, D.A.G., Dublin, relieves Major-General Young at Cork; Colonel Clarke, from D.A.G., Horse Guards, relieves Major-General Stevenson, at Dublin; Colonel Lascelles, Assistant Military Secretary, Horse Guards, relieves Colonel Clarke as D.A.G., Horse Guards; Colonel Godfrey Clark, from Madras, relieves Colonel Lascelles, as Assistant Military Secretary. Rarely, however, are appointments made against which, generally speaking, so very you will be good enough so as to help us to decide. I also see a discussion of Mr Gibson as to the factories, from which information that you and most profitable knowing as I do by being informed by many of Gibson's statements, don't find it put more compared with selling markets"—is not correct if not all who withheld sold in the local market great loss by doing that no acrimony should be shown in discussions of a matter.

SIR,—I see through two electioneering scapegoats of a leader since I have committed very objectionable things criticised the Corporation object; but Mr Jamieson; he is only the fore acted very unkindly what I said. Now, and some mortar out. It is quite evident in opinion unless he goes and says "Mr James O'Shea, I want another one?" Now, of a very foolish and he recognized this advertisement which years ago, "More I might change the those men into "M impostors." We poke our nose into are enclined to act men, but don't touch the Temple garly, rack-renting ready to put on the tenants. You can as much as you wish landlords, who can is the Temple of done anything that now "this man, St thing when he is Apologising, Mr E of your space, I re
