

e brought her a sum of £100, and he would have seen one of her realised. She was ever foremost was recently a member of the ttee for supplying clothing to the s. Mrs Brady also took a promi- e Society for the Prevention of aals, and much assisted the late ociety. The poor have lost in ro was quite as zealous on their ady himself—the "Fisherman's n a lady so distinguished for and self-sacrifice is removed y where her influence was widely is but natural that public expres- ven to the esteem entertained ife, and to the grief which the her decease causes to all who distressed districts.

RICK WATER QUESTION.

OF THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE.
refer your readers to a report of s of the National Association of h Millers, in the Dublin papers . The question discussed, viz, motor," is of considerable imple of this city, considering all red re the Water Supply. At f the Association above alluded ead by several gentlemen, and f opinion was, that as a water ine was undoubtedly the best. ations should be eclectic for the ayers, I would recommend our or Water Committee, to at least ter.

umbered that when the various, ere propounded and submitted long them which was only looked count of the expense it must if it is adopted, pure water will for the proposal was to erect up the river than they are at further up than the mouth of a stream credited with resting place for defunct cats. Now this scheme execution, if we are to believe ull (a gentleman much ex- se matters), with but little ex- les turbine, 100 horse power, f only 12 inches, would, he says,

Compare this with a breast diameter, 5½ inches in breadth, id giving only the same horse he advantage is obvious—econo- ace.

rbines be adopted, I would not emoval of the three engines t least not for a long time, as, down they would still be there pply. ter Committee would do well scheme with the gravitation the latter there is nothing to hat three things are guaranteed y, sufficiency of supply, and i construction of pipes; but as ceptical upon these points, and of that number, I venture to stion in the hope that it may ll way to help towards a solu- ty.—Yours, etc,

RATEPAYER.

the Rev. J. Dowd.

N.B.—Those marked with a star are entitled to compete for silver medals at the medal examination, to be held on Monday, 21st inst.

FATAL DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr M. J. DeCourcy, City Coroner, with a jury, held an inquest at Mr Manahan's public-house, Athlunkard street, touching the death of Patrick Quin, aged 40, a labourer residing in Courthouse lane, in the Abbey, who was drowned in a stream running into the Abbey river from Lough Mills, on Sunday evening last.

Sergeants Hinch and Stevenson watched the proceedings on behalf of the Crown.

Mary Quin, mother of deceased, deposed that she lived in Courthouse lane, in the Abbey. The deceased left her house at two o'clock on Sunday in the best of health, and at five o'clock his dead body was taken into his house. He was about 40 years of age and unmarried.

John Bolton, labourer, deposed that he knew the deceased; was in company with him on Sunday; John Kennedy was with them; they went out bathing at the back of Lough Mills; witness was the first in and he told the other two there were weeds there; himself and Kennedy swam up to the arch where the water comes out from the wheel of the mill; deceased did not go so far—they left him behind them; they came back to the bank and began to dress and Kennedy, on seeing Quin's clothes near his, asked where Quin was, when a youngster on the bank said that "he went down there;" witness thought it was the sally grove he meant and he was proceeding there when the boy said "underneath you," meaning that deceased had sunk in the water; Kennedy looked for deceased but witness was unable to give any assistance owing to the fright he got; he saw the body lifted and placed in a cot; deceased must have been under the water for a quarter of an hour; the occurrence took place about five o'clock in the evening.

By a Juror—He did not see the man drowning or if he did he would have attempted to save him.

John Kennedy deposed that the deceased man was the last to get into the water; Bolton told himself and Quin not to get out where they proposed as there were weeds in the water, but they did not take his advice; Bolton and witness swam up the stream and on their return were told deceased was under the water; witness dived six times and saw the body at the bottom; he lifted it up but failed to place it on the bank; about five minutes after a man named Martin Clancy put the body into a cot and took it home; the children, a number of whom were on the bank, did not call out that the man was drowning; Quin was a first-class swimmer, and he believed he was caught in the weeds as he was diving; the tide was just falling at the time; it was a quarter to six when the man was drowned.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

BARRINGTON'S HOSPITAL.

ELECTION OF A GOVERNOR.

A special meeting of the Governors of Barrington's Hospital was held yesterday at noon at the admirable manner. He if it could be put public and the citizens much good that little com ready, and how much it co would be able to do in the be able to get a good many to join it (hear, hear) respectable tradesman or the city who could not affo twenty shares in this flouris money would be secured, an risk of what in some compa quainted with—banks failin made afterwards. Here th land of their own. They had building, and if they could i tions they would give employ which was so much needed, a buildings which would be a and suitable for the poor to. He had great pleasure in mov the report, and hoped the few would be taken up by some. would be something like a cr city of 40,000, in regard to tr ings Company—the first here of, and that they would have the miserable sum of £700 s rick to support so valuable a Mr O'Mara seconded the ad and expressed his concurrence nell's observations.

The Bishop elect said that report proposed by Mr M' by Mr O'Mara. For his own hesitation in endorsing fully e fallen from Mr M'Donnell. It thing that in the city they b shares, and £740 10s paid up c pose of that kind. If it was mer project out of which no return but which would merely do an which the building of these k the poor people, he would still good deal more money than buted—but when people put that Company, and could not o did a great deal of good men, but that they got capital secure, and get return for their money as in ment or company of the kind, understand it. They (the co per cent on the paid-up capital forward a balance of five per ce he knew there were very few i kind in the country which coul present. What Mr McDonne the working classes was very tr classes should invest their mo of this description; it would gi thrift and would be a good way earnings. But if the working their duty to themselves, the er in the city did not do it either. great complaints about the w their unreasonableness, about improper times, their drunke faults. Now, he was not for e faults, nor would he shrink f them when they deserved to be (hear). He had never had any ing the working classes when that they were wrong, but it look more deeply into the cause coming on the part of the