It was sixty miles away, and Mr Irving met him that day at dinner leading representatives of the circles of the city. By fast return trip Mr Irving managed to get to the gathering, at what is described as a most jovial gathering.

THE NATIONALIST CONSPIRACY is discussing the approaching election at Chicago, says—There is an attempt on the part of the "capture" it. The endowment of the Atlantic is the life-blood of the movement. Irish patriots are urged to subscribe. Lord Salisbury's patent difficulties so far from being his own task. It would, on the other hand, be an error to give any superfluous cry against coercion, and it will tend more to reconcile the existing regime than the demand for law, and not the League, is the aim.
