G ON THE KING'S ISLAND.

FOR OF THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE. Limerick, July 15, 1886. -I was much surprised at being y a gentleman that this after- 5 o'clock about two hundred 2nd Leinster Regiment; accom- n officer and bugler, were bathing and Bank in the full gaze of y who went for their evening lone this, but they were allowed to the bank in "a nude state, g and yelling," as my infor- "like Zulus." Civilians, I be- be summoned by the police if found ch an hour at that public resort.

the last nine years a lot of rubbish had been thrown there by the Distillery Company, so that the ground was now sixteen feet over low water mark, and was in a dangerous state. There was a slip thirty yards further up, but this, he stated, was for the convenience of those living in the houses near it. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, and added: "We consider the place where she fell in, and which is used as a public watering place, in a dangerous condition." Serjeant Whelan, Thomondgate, conducted the inquiry on behalf of the Crown.

FATAL RESULT OF AN ACCIDENT.

The man named James Ryan, (24) unmarried, the Newport carrier, in the employ of Mrs Allen, Newport, who sustained a fractured skull and other injuries through falling under a heavily laden car in William street, on Tuesday evening, under circumstances already reported in these columns, succumbed to his injuries last night about half-past nine. The deceased was conscious only for a very short interval from the time of the accident up to his demise. Mr Mathew J. DeCourcy, City Coroner, held an inquest this afternoon on the body at Barrington's Hospital. Head-constable Wall watched the case on behalf of the police. Mr Robert M'Cutcheon, Newport, identified the body of the deceased.

Dr George Browning, Resident Surgeon at Barrington's Hospital, said the deceased was admitted on Tuesday afternoon in an unconscious condition, vomiting blood, and bleeding from the nose. The left arm was fractured. He was also suffering from concussion of the brain.

Wm Gould, in the employ of Mr John Guinane, said that on the day in question, about 3 o'clock, he saw the horse in charge of the deceased stumble, and recovered by the deceased. It stumbled a second time, and when he looked again he saw Ryan under the car, with his hand under the wheel. He shouted for help to have the car lifted off Ryan's hand. When that was done he went for Dr Graham. The head seemed as if the car had come in contact with it. Deceased was leading the horse by the head.

James Hayes, in the employ of Mr Bryan O'Donnell, had his attention directed to the accident by a young lady in the shop, who said there was a man killed. On looking he saw a man lying under a car. It seemed as if the man's head had been rushed by the wheel. The wheel had not, he thought, passed over the head altogether.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

WATERFORD REGATTA.

This annual event, which came off on Tuesday, was seriously interfered with by the unpropitious nature of the weather and the fact that the Dublin crews had to disappoint owing, it is stated, to the high charges asked for the carriage of their boats. The racing, however, was very good. Details—
