THE KILKER OUTRAGES .- Our Kilkee co respondent says that the damage wilfully done at Kilkee Protestant Church and other buildings is not near so extensive as stated in the newspapers. A marriage took place in the town, and the happy event was celebrated with muchifestivity. Some youths took more drink than was good for them, and were guilty of what was undoubtedly very disgraceful conduct. They threw stones at some buildings in the town, including the church, where a dozen panes of glass (not sevenly-five, as stated), eight inches by six, were broken. Some of the youthful followers of Bacchus, we are told, "hall to be taken off the streets early at night, and Dr. Hickey had boring the atomach pump into requisition in one instance." The affair, although not so serious as at first reported, cannot be too strongly censured. respondent says that the damage wilfully done

Re the Earl of Limerick with the Limerick Corporation.

Further opinion on Title.

I have read the searches now sent; most of the ack disclosed appear to be of charges prior to the settlement of the 19th May, 1862, subject to which the lean was to be made. The marriage extlement of the 19th of October, 1877, is puisne to the phwer of sale and the others do not appear to affect the premises; three of them, however, namely, the deeds of the 2nd October, 1888, 19th November, 1869, and 18th May, 1879, art mortgages, and presumably affect the present Earl of Limerick's life estate; the amount is not stated, but whatever it is, it would have priority over the Board's fadvance upon that it is the title tand be given than a surveyance from Lord Limerick and his trustes, under the power in the settlement of the settled Land. Ado, 1882. As I have already observed no objection to the title need be raised on behalf of the Roard as their advance will be auffidiently.
