THE DEBATE ON THE ADDRESS.

THE DEFATE ON THE ADDRESS.

(FROM THE MORNING FOST OF VESTERDAX.)
The debate on the address still drage its slow the length along, and, considering the number of amendments of which notice has been given, we inside the contess that the time still seems very far this time that the lime still seems very far this time that the lime still seems very far this time that the lime still seems very far this time that the lime still seems very far this time that the lime still seems very far this time that the limes of the much of which, we presume, and which, we presume, and you up to the present the members of the lower House have contented themselvis with the discussion of the vaguest generalities, and without any intention of taking the opinion of I have the thouse have offered. Nothing can be successful that the lower has no opportunity should be ignore legislimate than an opportunity should be ignore legislimate than an opportunity should be ignored to the confidence of the House's Commons, but unless this course is there are done or a straightforward way that in the House's Commons, but unless this course is there are done to straightforward way that in the House's Commons, but unless this course is there are done to straightforward way that in the confidence of the House's Commons, but unless this course is there are done or a straightforward way that in the confidence of the house's facilities which are now do not always in a change in the second of the Proposition of an Address in reply to the special in the life of probedure as will either dispense with a motion of an Address in reply to the special in the life of the proposition of an Address in reply to the special in the life of the proposition of an Address in reply to the special in the life of the proposition of an Address in reply to the special in the life of the proposition of the life of the life of the proposition of the life of th

and will his force the company of th

Epra's 0 cook.—Grataful and Comforting,— "By a thorough knowledge of the matural laws, which govern the operations of directly and attrition, and by a careful applications of directly admirate and attrition, and by a careful application of the dine proper full application of the dine proper full application of the display of the displ pears, bluere is nothing to show whether the collision was the results of pure accident or not. In any case it is one of those is mentable cocking and the collision was the results of the consequence whether the collision was the consequence was that to bulieve the fact that those to characteristics. It is to be consequently collision and field. It will easier the fact that those to characteristics are consequently of the Kapunda should carelessness be attributed by the Loss as a stream of the Kapunda should carelessness be attributed by the Loss and the Kapunda should carelessness be attributed by the Loss and the Kapunda should carelessness be attributed by the Loss and the Loss the passage, and in all human probability by the loss saved his life. A woman with a large family had soveral of his society of the Kapunda should carelessness be attributed by the Loss and the Loss an in Society's premises at Bail's Bridge will be visited on Wednesday morning, and at the conference in the the theatre of the society the Rev Canon Bagot will discourse upon the subject of "Cresimeries and Butter Factories." Luncheon having intervened, "Ensilage and succulent food for dairy cows" will be introduced for consideration. A drive through the Dargle to Powerstour, and supper at Bray, will bring the day to a close. On Thursday Cork will be visited, and at the conference which will be held at the Munster Dairy School, Papers on "Butterine" and "Eggot" will be read. The distribution of the Munster Dairy School Farm are the remaining fixtures for this day. Friday morning is left open for a visit to the Cork Butter Market and the discussion of a Paper on "Preparing Butter for Market." Cork will be left for Killarney in the effermence, the vicinity will be for Killarney in the efform of the Munster Dairy." Some of the small dairy farms in the vicinity will be over the small dairy farms in the vicinity will be conference of dealing with a Paper on "The Big in Relation to to the Dairy." Some of the small dairy farms in the vicinity will be conference. The exhibition of Korny cattle, under the auspices of the Mysal Agricultural Society, monopolises Saturday.

THE NEW LORD OF APPEAL'S THILE—The Queen has been pleased, by lettors patcut, under the Based on the Mysal Agricultural Society, monopolises Saturday.

THE NEW LORD OF APPEAL'S THILE—The Queen has been pleased, by lettors patcut, under the Based on the Mysal Agricultural Society, monopolises Saturday, under the Based of the Unified! Kingdom of Great British and Ireland, dated Zoth January, 1887, to appoint the Right Hon. Edward Macnaghten, and prior morkages; and also to constitute the company. A new General British and Ireland, dated Soth January, 1887, to appoint the Right Hon. Edward Macnaghten, and prior morkages; and also to company the consolidated Mortage of S1,000,000 dols at 5 per cent, running fity years, to be issued in exchange for the grant a

The bells of Keighley were rung last week in honour of the munificence of the lord of the manor, the Duke of Dewnshire, who has offered the town, land worth £40,000, adjoining the magnificent estate of Oliffe Casale, for the purposes of a multi- narrie an alternative process of a multi-has been executed by Mr Williamson of Esher. for Whippinam Church, is to be unveiled before the Queen leaves Osborne. Canon Duckworth and Canon Prothero are to take part in the special service on the occasion, at which the Duchess of Albany will be present, as she is expected shortly at Osborne on a visit to the Queen.

I hear that Lord Clanucarde (of Clanrikarde) has at last hardened his beart, and determined to carry out his plan of campaign against the Dillor and O'Brien plan This, of course, involves a good deal of expenditure. Mr George Brooke who is acknowledged by the patriots to be a lenient and large-hearted landlord will also counter-campaign his recusant tenants, and probably defeat them.

Messra Allsopp's brewery business is to be immediately converted into a limited liability company, and the prospectus may be expected at any moment. The profits on the capital invested have lately been as high as eleven per cent, and the capital of the new company is to be 23, 800,000 divided into 1,100,000 of debenture stock at 44 per cent, 1,160,000 six per cent preference shares of £10, and 1,100,000 of divided lind to 1,100,000 with the properties of £10, and 1,100,000 of the province younger sort who lies buried close to his father in the Upton Pyne vault. This was the only break in the Northcote family, and happened futies suddenly about twelve years ago. The young man was killed by slipping under a roller in the cricket field, and the news was conveyed to his father addressing a public meeting. These who knew well the late Lord [iddesleigh say that the illness from which he died dated, to a great extent, from the shock then received.

The ridiculous rumour that the Prince of Wales has taken a semi-dilapidated mansion some three miles distant from Dublin—Newslands—once the residence of Lord Kilwardeh, has again become current in Dublin, with circumstantial details. I believe there is no truth whatever, that the Prince may drive to Newlands when he goes over for the Punchestown Meeting next March, to visitits

THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE.

The monthly meeting of the Markets Trustees nospitust in facts. Doub pastures and posterons well, and food Doneraid, who was bitted in through symptom of nervourse, has not shown any symptom of nervourse, has not supplemented by subternation in the symptom of the symptom of the nearly has not necessary to the market of the near symptom of Parliamental and allouer diagrants of the symptom of the symptom of the symptom of the new drainings system of the symptom of the normal shown in the symptom of the symptom of the symptom of the normal shown in the symptom of the symp tioned.

Mr O'Mara proceeded to address the board on the subject, and was interrupted by The Chairman, who in reply to one of his