

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM BREDDIN.—We regret to notice the unexpected death of Mr. William Bredin, J.P., which took place at his residence, Castlegarde, on Sunday last. Mr Bredin was an extensive landed proprietor and agent; a magistrate of the county, and a prominent Grand Juror for many years. He was also chairman of the Killaloe Slate Company. The funeral will leave for Doon Cemetery to-morrow (Wednesday) at 1 p.m.

CITY POLICE COURT.—There was no magistrate in attendance at this court yesterday morning, Ald John F Walker, presided, this morning, when there was but one case on the charge sheet for disposal—that preferred by the police against a man for drunkenness on Saturday night. His worship dismissed the case, considering that the fact of accused having been in jail since the night in question, was sufficient atonement for the offence.—Adjourned.

MEETING AT CASTLECONNELL.—On Sunday last a meeting was held at Castleconnell with a view to organising a branch of the National League in the district. Some five hundred persons were present. Rev Mr Murnane, C.C., presided and addressed the meeting at some length. The Mayor (Mr Francis A O'Keeffe, M.P.), Mr John Finucane, M.P.; Mr P J Nolan, B.L., and Mr J H Moran, solicitor, also spoke. At the conclusion of the proceedings members were enrolled.

THE PAPAL RESCRIPT.—A demonstration will be held in Limerick on Sunday next, for the purpose of adopting the resolutions of the Roman Catholic members of the Irish Parliamentary party with reference to the Papal Rescript. The Mayor of Limerick is in receipt of a letter from Mr William O'Brien, M.P., stating that he will attend the meeting, and several other Parliamentary representatives have promised to be present. Contingents will be invited from Clare, Tipperary and Kerry.

DEATH OF MR. EDWARD J. CORBETT.—Pressure on our space last issue prevented us referring to the death of Mr Edward J. Corbett. He was a son of the late Mr Edward Corbett, of George-street, and belonged to one of the oldest and best known city families. Mr Corbett left town for Melbourne some short time ago, and had entered on a career in the musical profession—to which he belonged—which promised to be most successful. His unexpected demise at the early age of 43 years, has been received here with much regret, and the utmost sympathy is expressed with his surviving relatives.

ment will give widespread satisfaction not only in Limerick but amongst the profession general.

The Dublin Evening Mail says:—It will gratify the assistant medical officers of Irish lunatic asylums to learn that Dr W Z Myles, Senior Assistant of Richmond Lunatic Asylum, has been promoted to the vacant post of Medical Superintendent of the Kilkenny District Asylum. Myles has had thirteen years' service at Richmond Lunatic Asylum, Dublin, which is the largest in Ireland, and for the past seven years he has been the Senior Assistant, so that he has had abundant experience of the duties of his office both as regards the treatment of the insane and asylum administration. Indeed the working of the Richmond Institution devolved upon him during the declining health of the late Dr Lak-

INSPECTION OF THE ROYAL MUNSTER FUSILIERS.

Major-General Stevenson, with his Aide-de-Camp, Hon Lieutenant White, Royal Welsh Fusiliers, arrived in town to-day from Cork, and proceeded to the King's Island where the full strength of the 5th Batt Royal Munster Fusiliers was drawn up for inspection. The Earl of Limerick was in command, and the other officers on duty were—Majors—Hon Lieutenant Colonel H J Browne, F R Royse; Captains—Hon Maj T. J. Mawe, (Adjutant); Hon Maj E C Conyers, Hon Major W G Gubbins, Hon Major J S Furlonge, Hon Major T Gloster, Hon H de Vere Pery, F Fisher 3rd Border Regiment; A Coppering, 3rd Batt Royal Munster Fusilier and—Finch, 3rd Batt 18th Royal Irish, attached; Lieutenants—J F N Green, T Chute, J Finch, M Blennerhassett, J Waddell, junior, W C Finch, J Kimmitt; 2nd Lieuts—C Conyers, G R Shin. The men presented a smart and soldierly appearance, and in the bright sunshine the scarlet uniforms and glistening bayonets looked, as usual, most attractive. The men marched past in column, returned in quarter column, and again marched past at the double to an enlivening air. These movements were executed with admirable precision, as indeed were the other evolutions which were subsequently gone through. General Stevenson at the close expressed himself highly pleased with the proficiency the regiment had displayed. The inspection, which occupied about an hour and a half, concluded about four o'clock, when the regiment, preceded by the band, marched through George street and other thoroughfares and then returned to barracks. The annual inspection by Colonel Johnson, commanding the 101st Regimental District, will take place on Thursday and Friday next, this being immediately previous to the disbanding of the corps. The troops in the garrison will be disbanded on Saturday evening.
