desire to place the best men in the position, irrespective of party. The candidates are questioned usually on local matters only. At Lambeth, for instance, two parties express an interest in the decision, but on what may be considered minor points. The teetotalers are bringing their influence to bear in favour of the candidates who will favour their peculiar crotehets, and whatever the views of the candidates are upon other points they are nevertheless to be supported at the poll. The trade unionists of London, a small body compared to the general body of workers in the metropolis, are also seeking pledges from candidates. In the country but little excitement is manifested. and the candidates are as a rule wealthy merchants, coal owners, manufacturers, and men well qualified for the duties which they are to discharge. Still the new departure is viewed, as everything is, in its political aspect. Summing up a general view of the situation, the St James's Gazette says :-"Workmen are being brought into close contact with infinential Conservatives, and the result is that the prejudice which existed among certain of the older trade-unionists against Conservative politicans is fast breaking up; and while this reconcilation is in progress a process of estrangement is going en between the workmen and their Radical leaders owing to the unserupulous factiousness which the latter have shown in importing party polities into non-political matters. It will be surprising if the Conservatives do not make this increased strength, and the increased knowledge of electioneering which they are now acquiring, play a powerful part in the next parliamentary general election."

THE MANAGERSHIP OF CANNOCK & Co.-We learn that Mr Phillip R Toppin has been unanimously appointed Managing Director of Cannock and Company in room of the late Mr James W Moran. The directors are to be congratulated on their selection. Mr Toppin's long experience, his great business capacity, and his geniality of manner, fully qualify him for so operous a position, and we wish him every success in his new sphere of duties.

BOYCOTTED IRISH CATTLE IN LIVERPOOL-An extraordinary scene was witnessed yesterday at the Stanley Cattle Market, Liverpool, in connection with the expected offer for sale of a lot of cattle (sixteen in number) from The O'Grady estate county Limerick. The cattle arrived on Thursday last, special precautions being taken to prevent their place of origin leaking out. The fact became known, however, and the Liverpool salesmen at once refused to admit them to their cattle pens, the result being that they had to be penned in the railway yard. It was believed that the cattle would be offered for sale yesterday, and in anticipation of any attempt at interfering with or preventing such sale, a large number of detectives were present, including an officer from Scotland Yard, two Irish district inspectors, and an Irish Constabulary shorthand prepared to collect evidence with a view to a prosecution. After some time, however, it transpired that the cattle had been privately sold early in the morning to a Liverpool butcher, and they were not, therefore, brought into the market. The incident caused great excitement in the market, and the movements of the detectives were watched with considerable interest-Daily Express.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MR J. W. MORAN.

The remains of the late lamented Mr J W Moran, managing director of Messrs Cannock & Company, were interred yesterday morning at Mount St Lawrence Cemetery. The cortege was the largest seen in Limerick for years, all classes and creeds testifying in some shape or form their regret at the early demise of so popular and so preminent a commercial man as Mr Moran had The large drapery establishments were closed during the entire morning, no business being done until after the funeral obsequies had concluded. All the houses in the principal streets had shutters up, and some, besides those just mentioned, were closed altogether while the funeral was passing. addition to the hundreds of officers and assistants in the drapery trade present at the funeral there was a very large muster of citizens, as well as friends from Limerick, Clare, and Tipperary, this in itself testifying to the high name which the deceased gentleman had made for himself in what we might term his public as well as his The coffin, which was of massive oak with mahogany panels and artistic mountings, bore the inscription-"James W Moran, died 12th January, 1889, aged 43 years, EIP."

BARRINGTON'S HOSPITAL.—ANNUAL

MEETING The annual meeting of the Governors of this Institution was held yesterday in the Boardroom of the hospital. We regret that in a paragraph calling attention to the meeting which we published in last issue, an unfortunate error the past year in the nu as to the date occurred, "Wednesday" instead and extern cases treate we published in last issue, an unfortunate error of Monday having been printed. Those present were-The Mayor, Sir James Spaight, JP; Mr F G M Kennedy, Mr Archibald Murray, Mr Michael Egan, Mr PS Connolly, solr; Ald J Counihan, JP; Mr Laird, Mr Burns, Mr W H Swain, Mr Geo Boyd, Ald Riordan, Mr J P Morrissy, and Mr C B Barrington, JP, hon sec. Apologies for non attendance were received from Mr Hunt, JP, and Dr O'Shaughnessy, JP The Mayor having been moved to the chair, Mr Barrington read the minutes of the last annual meeting which were signed.

ANNUAL REPORT. The Hon Secretary then read the report from the outgoing committee for 1888 -"In presenting to you our firty seventh annual report, your committee has thankfully to reco d a marked increase in the prosperity and efficiency of the in titution during the part year, th number of in-pat ents being 463 and the number of out-patients 2,459, compared with 365, and 2,179 respectively in the previous year. Your best thanks are due to the Corporation of Lime rick for their generous support, by continuing their annual grant of £300 for the funds of the institution. We are happy to be able to report that the Barrington's Hospital Fund which we have organised amongst the employees of the city firms has been a completof the (city firms has been a complet success, and is bringing to the institution handsome income. From this source alone we have received during the past year the sum of £141 198 5d. We have to thank the employees of Messes Bannatyne and Sons for the sum of £90, and those of Messrs W J Shaw and Sons for £60 subscribed to this fund, and we are sure that contributions so generous will commend themselves to vour special thanks. An unlooked for and important addition to the funds arose from the legacy of £100 left to the hospital by the late Mrs Jacob, of Kyleglass. Thannual fancy and full dress ball was hell on on November 16th, and though not so largely attended as we hoped it would have been, has realized for your funds the sum of £129 6: 3.) The total receipts for the year was £1,492 13s 4d the expenditure was 221,365 9s 7d, showing a balance to your credit of 2127 3s 9d. We would desire to impress on the citizens of Limerick in the strongest manner possible—1st That we have maintained the Institution during the past year in a state of thorough efficiency. 2nd—That w-bave maintained it with our ordinary annual income, and without any special appeal for extra support. 3rd—That more cases have been relieved in 1888 than there have been in any yes. since 1870, and also that we have relieved 98 more intern cases and 280 extern cases than in 1887. The proprietors of the local Press have with their usual courtesy, constantly given the Hospital news a prominent place in their columns for which your committee return their warm thanks. The handsome dispensary building being erected by the Board of Guardians in Cornwallis-street is now nearly completed, and we hope that by March next the City Dispensity Committee will be able to move into their new premises. This will place the portion of the house held by them at your disposal, and we hop. to utilize some of this space by converting it int comfortable private ro ms suitable for paying patients, the want of such private rooms having long been felt in the city. The committee record their highest appreciation of the services of the annorary medical staff, at all times cheerfully and ably rendered, regardless of personal inconvenience or interest. | Your committee lost the services of Dr Counihan in January last. D M L Riordan, whom we appointed his successor, has, we are happy to say, amply justified the high testimonials which he brought ment of accounts for the year 1888." Sir James Spaight said he rose with great pleasure to propose a resolution adopting the report. This was the first time he had the honor of performing that duty, and he was pleased t find that it was a particularly tavorable occasion. everything so far as the hospital was concerned being coleur de rose andlin a satisfact rycondition There was nothing to cause the slight st annoy ance or regret. The general features of the report just read were eminently satisfactory and pleasing to every one interested in the hospital, but there were some features in it which he thought required special notice, and would be pleasant reading for those not able to attend there, but who watched the proceedings of the hospital very carefully in the public press. In the first place the action of the Corporation in continuing to give £300 a year to the institution was a matter of congratulation to the Governors and he thought to every citizen of Limerick.

The Corporation of Limerick were according to the old traditions the fathers of the city, and there certainly was no more appropriate parental duty than to provide for the sick and needy all the medical attendance and care they received in that hospital. As a former member of the Corporation, and as one who had the honour of twice filling the chair which the Mayor now so worthily filled, he was greatly gratified and pleased to se the spirit evinced by the Corporation, and he hoped it would continue without interruption (hear, hear) Another feature he would direct attention to was the increased relief which the Governors were William street; Dr O'Connor, George street, Mr enabled to give last year consequent on said he felt highly fluttered a better position as reg rds the funds and the manner in which the hospital—the number of persons spoken of him.
