

the class for heifers calved in 1887, but she only gets a reserved number. Mr C. H. Bassett, of Watermouth, exhibits a very pretty heifer in Lady Westaway Bates. Class 33—Heifer calved in 1887. The awards were—First, £10, C. W. Brierley; second £5 and third £3, W. Hosken and Son, Hayle, Cornwall; r, Lord Dunboyne, Greendale, near Essex. Hunters—Class 13—Mare and foal, or in foal—First £20, R. J. Mann, Acton, Burnell, Salop; second, £10, Lord Dunboyne, Clyst St Mary; v h c, J. White Taunton; h c, G. Brendon, Cornwall; c, Yeo Brothers. The competition for the prizes of £20 and £10 offered in the hunter classes for male and foal, or mare in foal, was a very keen one, and the judges were a considerable time in arriving at their decision. The second prize was carried off by the handsome bay mare and foal "Dynamite," shown by Lord Dunboyne, of Greendale, Clyst St Mary, who was also the breeder of the mare. Her sire was "Snowstorm," and her dam "Diana."

THE LATE MRS O'DWYER.

At the last meeting of the Harbour Board, the following resolution was proposed by Mr Wm. Spillane, J.P., seconded by Mr W. McDonnell:—Resolved—"That this board tenders to the Lord Bishop its sincerest sympathy in the loss he has sustained in the death of his beloved mother; and that this expression of condolence be conveyed to his Lordship by our Secretary." Sir J. Spaight in supporting the resolution, said he had not the same connection with the Lord Bishop that they had, but there was no member of his flock who was present at the obsequies more sincere in offering him sympathy in the suffering he saw his Lordship undergo than he (Sir J. Spaight.) He stood by that grave where the lady so dear to him was laid, and a more touching scene he never saw, not only to see so distinguished a Prelate bowed down with grief, but to see so good a man—so good a citizen and a son, so overwhelmed with such suffering as he was bearing on that occasion (hear, hear.) Mr J. Harris, Secretary, on behalf of the officers of the Board, fully sympathised in the terms of resolution. He knew the good lady who had gone, perhaps better than anyone one here, and a more affectionate mother or a kinder friend never lived. She was, indeed, everything to her beloved son—their distinguished Bishop. She was his guide in childhood, and her words were wisdom for him when he grew older. God spared her to see him a Priest of her Church, and winning the love of all who knew him, and to see that regard grow and increase until his fellow Priests came to respect him so highly that they made him their honored Bishop.

[The resolution was passed unanimously. It would have appeared in our report of the Harbour Board published in last issue were it not that the reporters present having been informed that the public business was over, left the Board Room, and subsequent to their departure this resolution would appear to have been proposed.—(Ed. L.C.)

the Market Field under very favourable auspices. The weather surprised a good many. In the morning the sky was overcast, and soon seemed not improbable, but towards noon it brightened up somewhat, and we had a fine sunshine for the remainder of the day. The result was that there was a fine muster of general public, and the fair sex, attired in most attractive and varied of summer costumes were present in very large numbers, either in the grand stand (which was draped in blue and white, the colours of the club) or along the enclosure. The committee provided a sitting accommodation, and it may be generally speaking, that their arrangements were excellently carried out. Though the ground on the Garryowen side seemed to have been recently tarred, they were pretty well covered by a lot of young fellows, who in their enthusiasm never thought of permanent stains—which was not unlikely to occur if the tar happened to be fresh—or other trifling inconveniences. A number of them, however, found their way into the enclosure notwithstanding the efforts of the stewards to keep them in their exalted position, but it was little or no encroaching on the tatters of excellent order having prevailed throughout. There were 22 events on the card, and some of them were very exciting owing to close finishes. The bicycle races were of especial interest. "The Limerick Derby" (one mile) brought out a field of ten, Mr Laird, who had already made his mark in like events, carried off the palm. M'Adam, the scratch man, was a capital race, and looked like winning near the finish, but unfortunately was unable to get through the wheels ahead of him, and so lost the chance. It was considered a pity that the race was not run in heats. B. Gubbins easily won the Two Miles Handicap, and his victory was highly popular, while W. B. Smith turned out to be the winner of the One Mile Bicycle Handicap (open) for novices. The Three Mile Bicycle Race fell to P. Moloney, Newry. The long jump was won by Noonan, of Abingdon, who was in receipt of ten inches from Larwood, but the Bandon man only jumped an inch and a half further—20 feet 5 inches as against Noonan's 20 feet 3½ inches. Bennett, of Tralee, secured the high jump, T. H. Walsh, Kinsale, was second, Quinlan, of Knockaney, only got third, although he jumped much higher than either, but he was not able to concede the handicap he was asked to do. Reel, of Limerick, won the putting of the 42lbs championship with 27 feet 4 inches, defeating the past holder, C. O'Brien, of Clonmel. Fitzgerald, Bruff, won the mile from scratch in the good time of 4 min. 44.25 sec. The 440 was secured by Lennox, Bandon in 54 secs. from scratch, while throwing the 16lb hammer W. J. M. I. smashed all records by throwing the missile a grand distance of 123 feet 3 inches, or 2 ft. more than his phenomenal throw at Ballsbridge on Whit-Monday. In addition to the "benefit fare" presented the proceedings were
