

horse was, as plaintiff was informed, made by Mr George Williams, of London, veterinary surgeon to the Queen. Subsequently, Mr Jones, by telegram, sought to repudiate the contract on the ground that the horse had the disease called "seedy toe," and refused to pay a cheque or otherwise, and had put in a counter claim on that ground. The plaintiff submitted that he was entitled to recover the price of the horse. Counsel referred to the successful performance of the horse in various races, and said evidence would be produced to show the high qualities of the animal and its entire soundness.

The case continued yesterday.

THIS DAY.
THE VERDICT.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Dublin, Saturday Evening.

This case was concluded in the Nisi Prius Court at 5 o'clock this evening. The jury found for the plaintiff, Mr McCracken, with £1,000 damages, the full amount claimed. The verdict was received with loud cheers by a crowded court of sporting men. The Lord Chief Baron refused a stay of execution.

John L. Sullivan has expressed his willingness to fight Peter Jackson, the coloured champion, for twenty thousand dollars. He will not go into training for a smaller stake.
