O'Grady, Esq., J.P., Limerick, per J. Counihan, Esq., J.P., towards the fund for the memorial to the late Sir Croker Barrington, Bart.

A fireman of a goods train from Battersea and Hoxley named Charles Gier lost his life on Sunday morning near Redhill Junction by falling from the engine while, it is supposed, he was engaged in oiling the works.

At a National League demonstration at Brosna, county Kerry, on Sunday, the Rev Dr Howley, of Newfoundland, told the people that he had that day fortnight been in Rome speaking to the Pope, who said he hoped they were now on the threshold of gaining Home Rule for Ireland.

Some drunken soldiers of the Scots Guards, mistaking a gardener named Collyer at Bisley on Sunday night for another man against whom they had a grudge, knocked him down, kicked
