NEW FAIRS FOR KILRUSH.
It was said that as their Chairman at the last meeting, he would draw of the Commissioners to the crying establishing some fairs in the town.
It was probable to see how the business and which had been frittered away for the steamers and united exertions on the inhabitants. At present the rush and the surrounding parishes bring long distances to sell their stock at

It was said if they got the lease of the lands of Kilrush from Mr Vandeleur on his own interest as well as theirs.
Taken together from this, the people should take their own light any longer. They to see the efforts used in outside to establish fairs and markets, and if to look out their butter market would be a piece too.

There was a further discussion in favour of the project through without any further discussion was passed unanimously agreement of the Vicar General, the Very Rev with a view to secure his co-operation , and hoping that he might be able to send a deputation to London to wait on and arrange matters with him.
The meeting then adjourned.
